New Tax Reduction Measure Draws Near Completion

HOUSE WILL ACT BEFORE CHRISTMAS

Cut of $300,000,000 Will Be Provided for in Bill Congress Leaders Think AMENDMENTS WRITTEN

Senate Is Not Expected to Lessen Levy Slash, But May Move for Increase

By THOMAS L. STOKES
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The new tax reduction bill is expected to be completed by the house ways and means committee by the end of next week, ready for introduction at the opening of congress. It will receive right-of-way in the house and should be passed there before Christmas.

Reductions provided by the bill as it passes the house will total about $300,000,000, or about $75,000,000 more than desired by the administration. It is indicated by the views of house leaders.

No Predictions in Senate
No one ever can predict what the senate will do to a tax bill, but it probably will not lessen the reduction and may increase it. As sentiment shapes up it appears that the bill will provide:

- 1.—Repeal of theater admission taxes and club dues and probably repeal of the automobile tax.
- 2.—Reduction of the corporation tax from 13-1/2 per cent to 12 per cent and partly and probably to 11 per cent.
- 3.—Retention of the estate tax, whose repeal Secretary of the Treasury Mellon asked.

To Ignore Mellon?
It also was predicted by representative Garner, Democrat, Texas, that the bill would provide no reduction in the intermediate brackets advocated by Mellon, though it is known that administration leaders in the house, as well as in the senate, will make a strong fight for this reduction, which would affect fairly large incomes.

The committee today had written in the bill certain amendments to section 220, aimed at preventing holding and investment companies from evading taxes by leaving their profits in "dummy companies" instead of distributing their profits.

ADMIRAL MAGRUDER GIVES UP SPEAKING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Rear Adm. Thomas Magruder relieved from command of the Philadelphia navy yard and placed on "waiting orders" following his criticism of naval policies has announced cancellation of all future speaking engagements.

Magruder said he would "rather not discuss" his action, but that he has definitely decided not to speak in public again for some time.

Fear of further antagonizing navy officials, it is understood, prompted the admiral's friends to influence him against stepping into the limelight more than possible while on "waiting orders."

Mason Day, Sinclair aide, has withdrawn his motion for a reduction of the $25,000 bond under which he is free in connection with a jury tampering charge. Suspicion of the press that he contemplated fleeing caused Day's action.

PROSPERITY OF COUNTRY TOLD BY PRESIDENT

Coolidge, in Address, Says That Nation Must Face Test of Wealth

(By United Press)
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—President Coolidge, in a speech almost as broad as a message to congress, last night warned the Union League club, of Philadelphia, that the nation must face squarely the great test of prosperity.

He outlined various constructive enterprises requiring needful expenditures and told his hearers these would restrict the amount of tax reduction possible in the near future.

A political tone was lent the meeting by former Governor Sproul, of Pennsylvania, who, in introducing the president, told him, "I wanted you to see what these worthwhile people think of you, how they trust you, how they approve of you * * * and how they will stand by you, Mr. President, as a national leader, in whatever course you may choose

INDIANAPOLIS CITY FATHERS INDICTED

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 18.—The confused Indianapolis political situation, quiet since election of L. Ert Slack as mayor, broke loose again today when the grand jury returned indictments charging bribery against four members of the city council.

Claude E. Negley, president of the council, and mayor pro tem from the time John L. Duval resigned until Slack took office, headed the list.

Hope For Mexico Property Rights Settlement Held

By LUDWELL DENNY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The oil law decision of the Mexican supreme court, restraining the Mexican government from cancelling an American company's drilling permits, may open the way to a settlement of the long property rights dispute between the two governments, administration officials said today.

DAY WITHDRAWS MOTION FOR BOND CUT

Suspicion Of Plan To Flee Causes Action

Gordon Quits Probe Body; Says He Is Ready Now To Prosecute

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Mason Day, aide to Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate today withdrew his motion for a reduction of bail. He had been under $25,000 bond in connection with a charge of jury tampering conspiracy following the mistrial in the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy case. Yesterday he asked the court to cut the bond from $25,000 to $10,000.

Justice Daniel Thiel Wright, attorney for Day, said his client ordered the withdrawal after the press announced the motion for reduction.

Day, according to Wright, telephoned him that New York papers, under flaring headlines were announcing the original motion and crediting Day with wanting the cut so "he might more comfortably and agreeably flee the jurisdiction."

"What inane, senseless and infantile nonsense," Wright explained.

Resigns From Probe
Almost simultaneously with Day's withdrawal of his motion, U. S. Attorney Peyton Gordon announced his resignation from a special committee of three appointed by Justice F. L. Siddons to determine whether contempt of court had been committed in the espionage upon trial jurors and the alleged talkative juror, Edward J. Kidwell.

Gordon said in a letter to Siddons that he was so firmly convinced contempt existed that he could not, in fairness, sit on the deliberative committee.

Justice Siddons removed one complicating factor from the case today by granting the motion of Juror Kidwell for postponement of hearing on his application for contempt citations against Donald King, newspaper reporter, and J. Ray Akers, former street car conductor.

King and Akers had sworn to affidavits quoting Kidwell as favoring Sinclair and expecting "a car as long as a block" if Sinclair were acquitted.

Kidwell Expects Hearing
Kidwell said, through lawyers, that he expected to get a hearing through the committee appointed by Siddons.

Exchange of letters between Gordon and Justice Siddons included a statement by Gordon that he was ready to prosecute for contempt at the time the mistrial was declared, more than two

Hernandez, however, minimized the number of casualties and branded the reports to the newspaper as "gross exaggerations."

THIRD SON PROCLAIMED AS NEW SULTAN OF MOROCCO

BY PIERRE PIGEAR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
FEZ, Morocco, Nov. 18.—Mouley Mohammed, 14-year-old third son of the dead Sultan Mouley Youssef, was proclaimed sultan at 4:20 p. m. today.

The proclamation was read from minarets of mosques after wise men of the kingdom had met all day, deciding on the successor.

The announcement caused surprise, as it had been thought Mouley Idris, 19-year-old eldest son, would be proclaimed.

He had been groomed for the throne by the French government, which exercises a protectorate over Morocco.

Under rigid Mohammedan law it was necessary for the successor to be proclaimed by today, the Mohammedan Sabbath, when prayers are said in all mosques for the reigning sultan as head of the Moroccan Mohammedan church.

Had not the council of wise men made their choice in time, the prayers would have been illegal and here the situation would have been regarded as grave.

Funeral services for Mouley Youssef, most beloved sultan in modern times, were held today with impressive ceremony that blended the color of modern France and the Orient.

Immense crowds of the faithful surrounded from early morning the royal mechouar palace, where the body of the sultan lay in state.

13 LOSE LIVES IN STORMS IN MIDDLE WEST AND EAST

Several States in Grip of Cold Wave; Two Governors Snowbound

A portion of the United States today was suffering from damage resulting from storm—wind, rain, electric, and snow. Thirteen people were killed either in the storms or in accidents due to storms.

In Washington sections of the city were struggling to overcome effects of a tornado which ripped down houses, ruined communication and caused heavy property damage. Scores were injured and one woman was killed.

The same tornado which swept across the national capital yesterday was felt in parts of Maryland and Virginia, which are adjacent to Washington.

Rain Holds Up Maturing Of Navel Oranges

Growers Throughout State Far Behind in Eastern Shipments

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—Rain throughout the citrus belt of California has delayed the maturing of the new crop of navels to such an extent that few eastern tables will be graced with that fruit on Thanksgiving, according to a Fruit World report to the United Press today.

It was pointed out that in central, southern and northern orange sections, warm days and cool nights are now in sway, but that all sections are behind in shipments and as November 15 is the deadline for fruit movements east of Omaha, the bulk navels cannot reach the east in time for the turkey holiday.

Coloring Up Well
Navels are coloring up well and are meeting the required eight to one sugar and acid test, the Fruit World report said.

The last of the old crop of valencias from Southern California districts went forth this week, bringing the total movement since the 1926-27 season closed October 31, to 427 cars. Only two cars of new crop navels were included.

The bulk was valencias, with scattered grapefruit shipments. In central California early movement of new crop navels has been held back by rains and late maturing resulting in a total movement of 27 cars of navels and grapefruit, compared with 687 cars the corresponding date last season.

North Also Behind
Northern California also is behind reports showing that no navels have been shipped as yet, compared with 105 cars at this time last year.

Early navels in all districts will run in splendid sizes, the Fruit World is informed.

TROJANS TO REFUSE POST-SEASON GAME

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—Virtual elimination of U. S. C. as the west's representative in the annual Tournament of Roses football game at Pasadena January 2 came today with a statement that the Trojan football team "ends December 3" when the team plays Washington university here.

The statement was issued by Hugh Willett, chairman of the faculty athletic committee and was approved by President Von KleinSmid. It said:

"Due to current comment it seems wise to say that the University of Southern California football season ends December 3. Faculty permission for the Notre Dame contest in Chicago and a game as late as December 3 was given with the proviso that there was to be no post-season contest."

The Southern California attitude seems to place the banner of the west in the hands of one of two outstanding coast football teams—Washington and Stanford.

Pilot Of Airplane Killing Two Girls To Get New Trial

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—A reversal of a manslaughter conviction against Carroll Crossan, aviator, found guilty in connection with the deaths of two girls when his plane crashed on the Venice beach last year, was on record here today and the aviator will have a new trial.

The appellate court held that the lower court erred in allowing the prosecution to introduce evidence tending to show that Crossan was "habitually reckless in the operation of his plane."

The flyer was sentenced to one to 10 years in San Quentin after a jury convicted him in the deaths of Madeline Kupfer, 14, and Lillian Normandin, 12, who were crushed when Crossan's plane crashed upon them from a 1000-foot altitude. The girls were bathing in the Venice surf.

POOR VISIBILITY AGAIN DELAYS CAPTAIN GILES

Fears Plane Would Be Unable To Climb Above Heavy Fog

(By United Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—Capt. Frederick Giles again today delayed his departure in the Hess biplane "Wanda" for Honolulu on the first leg of his flight to Australia.

After the Fokker monoplane "Southern Cross" had made two test flights to observe atmospheric conditions, Giles announced he would not attempt to get away today.

Visibility Is Poor
Giles said the visibility was so poor because of fog along the coast that he could see only a few hundred feet. He said he did not believe his heavily loaded plane would be able to climb to an altitude that would permit him to fly above the fog.

A. T. Peterson, manager for Giles, went on the first test flight of the "Southern Cross," which was piloted by Lt. George Pond, one of the crew of Australia.

REMUS' DAUGHTER LAUDS HER FATHER

BY PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 18.—Romola Remus, daughter of George Remus by his first marriage, arrived in Cincinnati today to "congratulate" him on the way he handled his defense at the trial in which he is charged with murdering his second wife, Mrs. Imogene Holmes Remus.

"I want to visit him and assure him that his daughter is watching his every move with love and respect," she said in a telephone interview at her hotel.

Miss Remus said she planned to stay only one day in Cincinnati before returning to Chicago, where she is employed in a cabaret.

"But I will come back for the trial and will be a witness," she added.

SENATOR IS MENTIONED IN LETTER

Man Believed Involved in Mexico Revolt Advised To Ask Aid from Solon

HUNT OWNER OF CACHE

Police Unable to Locate John Mannerstam, Head Of Munitions Company

(By United Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—District Attorney Earl Warren today examined a letter referring to Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, found when a huge cache of contraband arms and ammunition was seized yesterday at the home of John Mannerstam, head of the Pacific Arms corporation.

The letter was addressed to G. Rojas Jr., at New Orleans, believed to have been involved in a secret Mexican revolutionary plot. It was apparently written by Mannerstam, authorities said.

"Go with your lawyer to see Senator Borah," it read. "He is a friend of mine. Ask him to use his good offices in helping you and me. Please remember that in less than two months our trial comes up in Los Angeles."

To Examine Letter
Warren said he would make a thorough examination of the letter and other documents found in Mannerstam's home before deciding whether they would be turned over to the department of justice.

Police of the San Francisco bay region and Los Angeles were hunting today for Mannerstam, who eluded their net yesterday when his house was raided.

He is already under indictment in Los Angeles, charged with attempting to smuggle arms into Mexico.

Ammunition, Believed On Way to Mexico, Seized

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18.—Customs officers seized 7500 rounds of rifle ammunition aboard two steamers here today believed to have been intended for Mexican revolutionists. Five men were arrested.

The vessels searched were the Lake Winico and Choluca, the latter a Nicaraguan vessel. Both were scheduled to sail for Mexican ports.

Officials who made the seizure were understood to be investigating the possibility that today's seizure may bear some relation to the Albany, Calif., plot discovered yesterday.

The men under arrest are

Congress Asked To Appropriates Flood Aid Fund

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Appropriation by congress of $50,000,000 to aid seven southwestern states in a $150,000,000 program of flood control for the Red and Arkansas rivers through an extended reservoir system was asked of the house flood control committee today.

E. E. Blake, of Oklahoma City, chairman of the Arkansas and Red River interstate flood control commission, made the request.

By controlling floods and providing irrigation and water power, this plan would increase property values by millions of dollars and attract thousands of people to the southwestern states, Blake said. The plan calls for a compact among Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Colorado, New Mexico and Kansas, but only Oklahoma and New Mexico have agreed to it thus far, he said.

NESLE PIRACY TRIAL DELAYED: POP ANGERED

NASSAU, Bahama Islands, Nov. 18.—After only a few moments in court yesterday, Pop Nesle, picturesque American adventurer, was taken back to the Nassau jail to wait another two months before he learns whether he really is a pirate, as charged.

Pop is accused of posing as a prohibition agent—he was once once, as he has been almost everything else—and “arresting” an American liquor boat that happened to be in British territorial waters.

Pop and the liquor were seized by British authorities and Nesle was presented with the possibility of being hanged under the old piracy laws even though the possibility was slight.

Appears for Trial

Pop appeared in the supreme court for trial yesterday.

Things were just starting when Attorney General N. F. C. Cox, in his black robes, demanded an adjournment for two months while extradition proceedings were taken against L. Christensen, of the Coast Guard boat that Pop led to the “pirated” vessel.

Christensen, Cox said, would be charged with larceny, receiving stolen goods and kidnapping.

“I object to any adjournment,” shouted Pop. “I don’t want two more months of solitary confinement. I’m an old man, nearly 66—and I’ve already lost my wife over this business,” his voice broke.

“What do you mean, solitary confinement?” asked Chief Justice Kenneth Beatty, of the supreme court, presiding.

“I mean I’m within four walls and can’t see my friends,” he said.

“He has the run of the prison,” interjected the police commandant.

“Make him as comfortable as you can,” said the judge.

Justice Beatty granted an adjournment until January 18.

SPIRIT MEDIUM IS VICTORIOUS IN SUIT

WICHITA, Kans., Nov. 18.—The battle of John Seybold, Liberal, Kansas farmer, has been won—by the woman in the case.

Seybold’s suit for $7500 against Mrs. Nettie C. Moore, Wichita spirit medium, was decided for Mrs. Moore.

The district judge, J. E. Alexander, in his decision, admitted the superstitious advice might have come from the trusted forces of the spirit world, but that all of Seybold’s business transactions were down in black and white.

Seybold contended he spent $7500 on Mrs. Moore for advice from the spirit world. The court, however, held that the farmer’s expenditures were accounted for by mortgages and notes.

The court did not touch upon Mrs. Moore’s alleged mystic talent. Nor did it mention “Sarah,” spirit-land bride of Seybold.

Judge Makes Sure He Is Not Lodging Governor In Jail

EL CENTRO, Calif., Nov. 18.—When Judge Perkins, of El Centro, made sure he was not locking up the governor of California, he sentenced C. C. Young to 15 days in jail for vagrancy.

“Have you a job?” the judge asked the prisoner when the latter stepped before the bar of justice.

“No, sir,” was the answer.

“What’s your name?”

“C. C. Young.”

“Not the governor?”

SANTA BARBARA SKULL BELIEVED OLDEST KNOWN

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 18.—A skull found under a principal street here 25 years ago by a laborer digging a sewer, promises to become one of the leading scientific objects in the world as Dr. A. H. Osudal, local anthropologist and student of ancient races, pursues his theory that it is older than any yet discovered.

For a quarter of a century the skull accumulated dust in the corner of a barn where it was tossed by the laborer whose untrained eye failed to recognize anything of interest in the queer find.

Recently the laborer left this vicinity and the skull was turned over to a friend, who noted peculiarities and sent it to Dr. Osudal.

Dr. Osudal consulted other experts here and in Los Angeles and it was agreed that the skull compares in some degree with the Gibraltar skull, found in 1848, although it appears even older.

“It undoubtedly antedates the Neanderthal and Java skulls that helped scientists trace men to the tree age and I believe comes nearer to connecting man with ape than anything yet uncovered,” Dr. Osudal said.

None of the experts who have seen the skull believes the man could speak and Dr. Osudal voiced the opinion that a grunt was the extent of the owner’s vocal powers.

The large nose tallied with the Gibraltar skull, but otherwise is different, the doctor said. It is much thinner than the average human skull.

There are indications that the neck muscles around the jaw and shoulders were about three times larger than the average man’s and that the shoulders of the specimen were very broad. The eye sockets are a fourth larger than the average human’s.

Dr. Osudal is endeavoring to locate the laborer who found the skull and will attempt to locate other bones in the hope of establishing the man’s height and other pertinent details.

Alleged Forger Couldn’t Write; Neighbor Helps

FRESNO, Nov. 18.—Kust Aho, a Japanese rancher, couldn’t write English, so he solicited the aid of an accommodating neighbor to forge checks for him, according to testimony in superior court, where Aho is being tried before a jury on a forgery charge.

The neighbor, Mary Johnson, testified for the state that she unwittingly wrote a series of forged checks at Aho’s dictation.

The scene is the cemetery at Teocelo, Mexico, where the general, regarded as a formidable presidential possibility in Mexico next year, was executed as a revolutionist. Gomez had been pursued for weeks by federal troops.

DRY CHIEF SAYS SCHOOLS SHOULD TEACH TEMPERANCE

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Courses on temperance and sobriety is better,” Lowman said New York and several other states have statutes requiring public schools to teach temperance and sobriety. He favors enacting such laws in all states.

“Children and young men and women should be told how harmful alcohol is to the human system,” Lowman said. “The schoolroom is a proper place for this instruction.”

MA CLAIMS HER MUFFINS BEAT FIRST LADY’S

WICKFORD, R. I., Nov. 18.—Two famous cooks are at odds on the subject of corn muffins.

That muffin recipe which Mrs. Calvin Coolidge contributed to the Congressional club cook book is all right as far as it goes, but it goes too far in some respects and not far enough in others, according to “Ma” Prentice, Rhode Island’s most famous cook.

“Too much baking powder, too much meal and not enough milk” was the criticism of Mrs. Prentice in commenting on the first lady’s recipe.

“Ma” Prentice, as she is known to governors, senators and other notables who have dined at her table, is 71 years old. She has been cooking for more than half a century and she knows her muffins.

Mrs. Coolidge’s—“Two cups of corn meal, one cup of flour, one cup of milk, two eggs well beaten, one-half cup of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of baking powder.”

“Ma” Prentice’s—“Two tablespoonfuls of shortening, one-quarter cup of sugar, one cup of sour milk, one cup of corn meal, one cup of flour, one half teaspoonful of baking soda, one-quarter teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of baking powder.”

RUM SPOTTER FACES CHARGE OF MURDER

ROCKFORD, Ill., Nov. 18.—John Beyers, 21-year-old Janesville, Wis., prohibition “spotter,” faces a murder charge here as a result of his killing of William Petroff.

Petroff was shot when he attempted to knock a “glass of liquor” from Beyers’ hands, after the latter had purchased it from John Ray, allegedly Petroff’s bartender.

Petroff is said to have tried to knock the liquor from Beyers’ hand when he suspected the latter was a “snooper.”

Beyers holds no commission, officers said, but had been engaged by the local police department “to do some spotting.”

MACHINES NOW DO WORK OF OFFICE HELP

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—You can get a mechanical substitute for almost every office worker in your employ, from efficiency expert to stenographer, exhibits at the National Business show, now in session here, reveal.

One of the startling innovations is the mechanical efficiency system, which, with a human helper or two, can administer production for one factory or 40 factories. This apparatus, a complicated and costly arrangement, schedules and re-schedules shop orders; it accumulates the payroll and cost data; it dispatches raw, finished and semi-finished material and dispatches mechanics and special service. The contraption is operated through a central board, on which numerous dials are twisted, recording information and flashing it through the factory.

In another corner of the business exposition is a machine which will produce at the rate of 1000 letters an hour, addressed similar letters to 1000 persons in which personal remarks have been inserted and paragraphs twisted about. This machine works like a player piano and one operator can keep 12 typewriters going simultaneously by electric power.

To further inject the personal element into business, typewriters are shown in many colors so that the typist may match her machine to her clothes and her complexion.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The Rev. William S. Schaacklette, Protestant Episcopal pastor here, called the prohibition law “hypocritical” and invited bootleggers and drunkards, among others, to attend his church.

The rector was here of the explosion of U. S. S. Bennington, in San Diego harbor, in 1905, and was awarded the medal of honor by special act of congress.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation. It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the bowels open.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

PROBATION FOR ALBERT CULLEY SOUGHT TODAY

An attempt to secure freedom for William Albert Culley, 28, now serving a one-year term in the county jail, got under way today when D. G. Wettlin, Culley's attorney, presented a petition for the release to Superior Judge James L. Allen.

The reason for the habeas corpus application is that the county is charged with failing to comply with a court order to provide aid for Culley's family. Culley was given probation on September 15 on the condition that he spend a year in the county prison. The court ordered that he be put to work and that wages of $1.50 a day be given to his wife.

The petition declares that this has not been done. Mrs. Culley resides at Costa Mesa with her two-year-old daughter. Judge Allen set the hearing for November 25 at 9:30 a. m.

Culley had pleaded guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl at parties in Balboa and Tina Juana. Liquor is said to have been used in the festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Wilton and Cecil Burke were implicated in the affair and also received probation at the same time Culley was sent to jail. They were to serve two month terms as a condition of their probation.

BRATIANU TARGET OF NEW OFFENSIVE

BUCHAREST, Nov. 18.—A new offensive has been launched against Premier Bratianu and his supporters by the Rumanian Peasant party, which yesterday in parliament bitterly attacked the Rumanian government.

M. Junian, a deputy of the Peasant party, presented a long list of alleged illegalities committed by the government, beginning with the arrest of M. Manolescu, when carrying letters from Prince Carol to prominent Rumanians and ending with Manolescu's acquittal of charges of conspiracy against the government.

The attack marked the launching of the campaign against Bratianu, which Prof. Nicolae Iorga, leader of the Peasant party, and M. Manianu, the National party's leader in parliament, organized with a view of overthrowing the government.

SHARKEY SUSPENDED BY NEW YORK BOARD

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Boston's contender for the heavyweight championship of the world, Jack Sharkey, and Joe Dundee, welterweight titleholder, were suspended by the New York state boxing commission at its meeting today. Although Sharkey was put under an official ban, the commission cleared him of charges that he was claiming an injury so he would not have to meet Tom Heeney, of Australia, at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Dr. William H. Walsher and Joseph S. Baldwin reported that Sharkey's little finger on his left hand showed a fracture. Sharkey is suspended until he meets Heeney. The bout will be staged in January, it was said.

MRS. WALL'S ASHES WILL BE EXAMINED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—Examination of the ashes of Mrs. Elizabeth Marion Hollenbeck Wall, cremated a month ago, will be made by the coroner here today in an effort to discover if poison played a part in her death.

A court order was obtained to prevent shipment of the ashes to Mount Clair, N. J., Mrs. Wall's former home. The woman, 50 years old, died October 10, leaving a $500,000 estate to Wesley Wall, 25, whom she had married only a short time before.

At the time of her death the body was held by the coroner for 16 days, but exhaustive tests failed to shed any light upon the matter.

Cushing Are New Directors Of Bar

The balloting ended several weeks of intensive campaigning among six candidates, from which the lawyers were to select two to represent the two San Francisco congressional districts in a board of 15 governors.

The vote was: O. K. Cushing, 811; Albert Rosenshine, 730; F. M. McAuliffe, 621; Edwin McKenzie, 430; R. H. Countryman, 80; A. V. Haskell, 31.

Finally he was caught at Vancouver after several robberies, and attempted to flee, but was stopped by a bullet in the leg.

BITTER BATTLE OVER 3 HOURS ENDS IN DEATH

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 18.—An autopsy will be held here today to determine whether Alonzo Seaman, 57, Mojave Desert dweller, was killed in a three hour fist fight with Jonathan Stines, 52, a fellow prospector and pal of 20 years standing, or died of heart disease after the bitter struggle.

An accusation of theft hurled at Seaman yesterday by Stines resulted in the death fight, the latter told county officers after he walked 10 miles from Seaman's desert shack to surrender. Stines, weary from the battle, presented few serious bruises, but was bleeding from minor cuts.

He said he believed Seaman stole some groceries from the country home of Mrs. E. Hamilton of Hollywood, one of the Mojave showplaces. Stines, caretaker of the Hamilton estate, went to the Seamans shack near the Hamilton home, and confronted the prospector with the charge, he said.

Seaman, he declared, drew a knife which Stines secured and threw into some sage brush. Stines then grabbed a pickhandle and struck Seaman about the legs, he admitted. Then the men grappled and the struggle waged for three hours over a mile of territory.

"Alonzo frequently pleaded for rest," Stines said. "He complained about his heart and said he would show the hiding place of the groceries after some rest. Then he wouldn't do it and we would fight again."

Mrs. Hamilton, a number of her servants and two desert homesteaders witnessed the fight. They declared that while the men struggled furiously few actual blows were struck.

As both contestants became more and more weary, Seaman suddenly collapsed and died, the witnesses declare.

BOOK WEEK IS OBSERVED HERE AT LATHROP HIGH

SHERIFF PLANS DRIVE TO HALT CHICK THIEVES

George Washington, Martha Washington, Heidi, Little Red Riding Hood, Little Black Sambo, Priscilla Alden and many other well known characters of childhood fiction are to be seen at the Julia Lathrop library this week, adding in the celebration of Book week.

These characters are all represented by dolls which have been especially dressed for the occasion by children from Spurgeon school, according to Miss Leona Calkins, head of the library.

The dolls carry out their parts very well as no maiden in real life could be half as demure as Priscilla, not half as grand as Martha Washington. Few Samboes have ever been as sleekly black or worn such purple shoes as the one to be found at the Julia Lathrop library.

In fact, Little Black Sambo, dressed by Geraldine Westlake was awarded first prize as being the cleverest doll.

Other ways of celebrating Book week at the library at the Junior high school have been to write essays on "Book week," take a vote on the most popular book, and make book projects.

The projects consist of a scene from some well known story such as "Heldi," "Robin Hood," "Pollyanna," "Lovely Mary," "Secret Garden," "Robinson Crusoe" and "Snow-White and Rose-Red." The projects representing "Snow-White and Rose-Red" has to do with the scene in which the two girls cut off the head of the dwarf. This project was awarded first prize. It was made by Hazel Hart.

So far "Tom Sawyer" has proven a favorite book in the voting contest with "Anne of Green Gables" a close second. Many of the boys who have just read "We" by Colonel Lindbergh have voted for him, according to Miss Calkins, but the book is not popular enough yet to win the contest.

Now that 260 stolen turkeys have been returned to their owners, three men have been arrested on charges of turkey stealing and poultry owners throughout the county well satisfied with the work of the sheriff's office in stopping the wholesale thefts, the sheriff's office is to start a drive against chicken thieves.

About this time every year, one deputy said, chickens and turkeys are taken, and it is not until arrests are made and convictions gained that the "season" is over and poultry ranchers throughout the country are given a rest.

The sheriff's office has another big job to perform in the recovery of chickens stolen since October 1, just as it had in recovering the stolen turkeys.

Records show that since October 1, five ranchers have lost 424 chickens. Of this number, 230 were taken from the place of A. C. Almond, Costa Mesa.

Others who have reported thefts in that time are: F. H. Klauer, Orange, 88; Charles Edwards, Garden Grove, 50; Emil Harms, Orange, 30; H. H. Curtis, Westminster, 28.

Chicken thieves are much like turkey thieves—hard to catch, according to F. W. Howard, chief criminal deputy sheriff, but the sheriff's office is making every effort, he said.

It has been estimated that the earth can maintain a population of 6,000,000,000, a total which will be reached about 2100 at the present rate of increase.

Probation hearings for Walter A. Johnson, on a bad check charge, and Roy H. Barnett, said to have failed to provide for his family, were continued to November 25 in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court today.

Additional investigations are declared to be necessary before the hearings can be completed. Johnson is charged with having given a no-fund check for $10 to H. W. Lewis, manager of the J. C. Penney store at Anaheim, on October 17.

Barnett's preliminary examination was held before Justice Halsey Spence on October 26, while Johnson's initial hearing was on October 20.

Mrs. Carpenter announced the meeting dates for these two missionary auxiliaries as follows: Home Guards, first Thursday of each month; Mother's Jewels, second Thursday of the month. ## PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGES OF TURKEY THEFTS

Harold Via, 28, whose mother lies at the point of death in Tampa, Texas, and whose father, Benjamin C. Via, is a prominent attorney in that state, pleaded guilty today to a charge of grand theft when he appeared for arraignment before Superior Judge James L. Allen. Young Via has confessed to participating in the stealing of 260 turkeys from Orange county poultry growers.

D. G. Wetlin, attorney for Via, entered a request for probation and the hearing was set for November 25 at 9:30 a. m. The attorney desired to have the case set for an earlier date, because of the situation in the Via family.

Via's father, who is a candidate for District Attorney in Gray county, Texas, and holds a position in the legal department of the Cities Service company at Tampa, appeared for the first time on the spectators' side of the court room today when his son was arraigned. "I want to see justice done," he declared before the case was called. "It is the boy's first offense. If he is given probation, I will take him back of Texas and get him a job even if he has to work as a laborer. I know they always say that and the public doesn't believe it. It's a terrible thing."

The younger Via is said to have had a lease on an 11 acre ranch near Stanton, where he lived with his wife. His father told of sending him large amounts of money during the past two years. When the last request came, it was not granted.

"That is when the stealing started. I know I have been too indulgent with Harold. But all I ask now is that justice be done. A sentence in the county jail would be all right. But if he is sent to San Quentin . . . well, I just can't believe that he will be."

"I don't mind the notoriety. We can't have a muzzled press. I want the truth to be known. The people here have treated me fine."

Young Via gave himself up to officers when he read that turkey thieves were being hunted. It is said that he also tried to take the blame for the whole affair and wanted to protect the younger boys, T. E. Le Bel, 20, and Donald Salter, 20, who completed the trio.

The latter two boys have been certified to the juvenile court. All three had waived their preliminary hearings before Justice Kenneth Morrison.

The last theft occurred at the W. E. Paulus ranch, near Olive, where 57 fowls were taken. The stealing is said to have been spread over several weeks. Salter was the last to be arrested, being taken into custody by officers Howard and Jemison.

Via's bail was left at $500, after Deputy District Attorney S. B. Kaufman had suggested that it might be raised, stating that the defendant is a transient. Wetlin objected, declaring that he rents a ranch and lives in Orange county.

FULLERTON MAN IS ELECTED MODERATOR OF S. A. VALLEY BAPTIST ASSOCIATION TODAY

Frank Bissitt of Fullerton was elected moderator and W. E. Bartlett of Anaheim was re-elected clerk of the Santa Ana Valley Baptist association at this morning's session of the thirty-fifth annual meeting of the association being held in the Calvary Baptist church here.

These elections were effected by the unanimous adoption of the recommendations of the nominating committee which was composed of A. C. Black, Santa Ana, Albert Sitton, Fullerton, and the Rev. J. Bell of Brea. Mr. Black read the report.

The Rev. Charles H. Maston of Orange was at this time elected to give the principal sermon at the annual meeting next fall, the First Baptist church at Montebello being selected as the scene of next year's meeting. The Rev. Luther Arthur of Huntington Beach was named as an alternate speaker in case Rev. Maston could not serve.

Attendance at the convention, which has drawn delegates from all the 12 Baptist churches in the Santa Ana Valley district, continued increased during the opening sessions yesterday with a total of 315 registered when the first day's program came to a close, it is reported.

Secretary Speaks
An address by the Rev. W. F. Harper, D. D., of Los Angeles, the executive secretary of the Southern California Baptist convention, on the subject "After Vision, What?" and by the Rev. Otto S. Russell, D. D., Rev. Harper's assistant in the Baptist convention work, on the subject "Baptist World Vision," were outstanding features of the closing session yesterday evening.

Previous to the evening meeting, which was held in the church parlors, two separate banquet programs were held, one by the women in the Christian church social hall and the other by the men in the American Legion clubrooms in the Anaheim city hall.

Women Banquet
Mrs. James Robinson of Downey opened the women's banquet meeting, introducing Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks of Santa Ana who presided as toastmistress. A special program with its subject, "Bees" was presented by the following women, Mesdames J. P. Williams, W. H. Harrison, A. F. Hill and M. M. Holmes and Miss Mame Havens, all of Santa Ana; Mrs. H. H. Knox of Anaheim and the Rev. Alice Williams Lindsey of Whittier.

Albert Sitton of Fullerton presided over the men's meeting, which was featured by a number of impromptu "experience" talks. An address by Miss A. Bassett, a returned missionary from China, featured the afternoon session yesterday and this morning the Rev. S. Fraser Langford, pastor of the Fullerton church, gave a stirring message on "The Power for Conquest" as one of the outstanding features of today's meeting.

Pageant Presented
One of the interesting events of yesterday afternoon session was a pageant presented by the Santa Ana Women's Society. The pageant emphasized the value of religious education in the home. The following took part, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Black, Mrs. R. E. Colter, Mrs. Carrie Stearns, the Rev. H. J. Powell, Little Mary Jane Holmes, and Billie Stearns. Miss Mame Havens furnished piano accompaniment.

Dr. George Burlingame, acting pastor of the Santa Ana church, is slated to give the closing address of the meeting at the final session this evening. Dr. Burlingame is to take as his subject, "The Glorious Hazard."

Preceding this or at 7:15 o'clock a Young People's rally is to be held with Robert L. Lehnhard, Anaheim grammar school teacher, president of the Associated B. Y. F. U. presiding. Awarding of the attendance trophy will be another feature of this evening's meeting which will bring the convention to a close.

Editor Register:
We, the undersigned teachers, superintendent and janitor of the Newport school having the courage of our conviction, do hereby declare as false the statement made in the Santa Ana Register concerning the mistreatment of a child in the first grade by locking her up in a cloak room and causing her physical injury as enumerated.

We further resent the article as an attack upon our public schools and upon the teaching profession since such attack was unjustly made upon a teacher who was conscientiously doing her duty, though her memory did fail her in a moment of undue haste incidental to further preparation for her profession.

JIM ULRICH.

We have looked into the news item referred to in the above letter. Some of the matter contained in the article was true, such as complaints being made and a pupil being corrected. On the other hand, there was editorial comment and conclusions drawn which were not only unwarranted by the facts, but had no place in a news article even if they had been warranted by the news. We regret that they inadvertently appeared.

Those who know the facts and know that they were not as printed, can well deny them and so charge, but the article could not be considered as an attack on the teaching profession or the public schools unless the public schools or teachers would defend such alleged acts and appropriate that to themselves. Which instead of doing, they deny the truth of, so they do not make these acts their own.

Charging wrong doing on a member of a profession or even proving it, is not an attack on the profession; it may not even be an attack on the individual. It is a defense of the profession if there is wrong doing, to take action looking toward correction.

We have always been the staunchest supporter of the public schools and friend of the teachers. Among them, as a rule, we have found the finest and most estimable characters. We will continue to be their friend and the friend of the public schools and in the meantime, will endeavor to see that the news reporters shall not editorialize in their articles and we assure all that the Register's actual position on public questions will be found in the editorial columns, and nowhere else. (Editor.)

Editor Register:
I was writing my protest for the columns of the Register when I learned that the city council had put a ban on the "Turkey Scramble." I have been a citizen of Orange county ever since it was organized, have watched, with pride, its wonderful growth, have contributed a little to its development and I could not let that shameful performance be staged in our beautiful city without entering my protest. My reasons for so doing were not merely the interruption of traffic and the probability of some one or more getting hurt, but also the demoralizing effect, especially on the young people, and the inhuman treatment of the turkeys. It is bad enough to take life in the most humane way possible, without frightening the animals or birds half to death before hand. Cruelty to animals leads to cruelty and oppression of human beings.

When I was a schoolgirl I memorized those beautiful words of the poet—"I would not enter on my list of friends, though graced with polished manners and fine sense (yet wanting sensibility) the man who would heedlessly set foot upon a worm that crawls at eventide in the public path," and the sentiment has stayed with me to this day, so that when I see a helpless, harmless creature in my path way I "tread aside and let the reptile live."

I sincerely thank the city council for denying the request of the Business Men's association and hope it may be the last attempt to stage such a stunt in Orange county.

Editor Register: In planning our reforestation program there is one tree that would stand investigation as to its possibilities for commercial value. The large black walnut thrives here on very meager attention. Most of us have admired those two trees in Sam Dunagan's yard on South Broadway in Santa Ana, or that one on East Santa Clara. This tree I believe is the species that walnut furniture and interior finish is made of. That the lumber from it is valuable, there is no doubt. The pomegranate is another of the hardiest plants in the world, and it grows from a cutting. In some favored spots the soft shell walnuts could be planted. It would not be necessary to propagate either of these trees in a nursery, just plant the seeds of both kinds of walnuts and the slips of the pomegranate when the ground was wet and a better "stand" would be assured than any other way.

Eastern visitors would get quite a "kick" out of picking the fruit and nuts that could be raised in this way. As an advertisement it would be the cat's whiskers. Most everyone knows what little care a seedling peach or plum needs, and to pick them in the wild state would be a novelty and a pleasure. A quantity of seedling fruits would be an incentive for wild game to enter and multiply in this refuge of timber.

STATE TRAFFIC OFFICERS BACK TO OLD CYCLES

Several weeks ago Orange county state traffic officers denied that an order coming from Frank G. Snook, chief of the division of motor vehicles, to the effect that all state officers must return to their motorcycles for patrol work, affected Orange county, but—

Today the alleyway in the rear of the county court house building was dotted with motors and the police cars were only conspicuous by their absence.

An explanation from Captain Henry C. Meehan was to the effect that half of the Orange county force was returning to their motors. "Motors are to be used in the day work and cars at night," Meehan said.

One officer explained that he was returning to his motor because he wanted to do so. "Others just laughed when asked why they were going back to the 'iron horse' instead of staying with the soft cushions of an automobile."

The new order of things went into effect with the state force today.

TUBERCULOSIS BODY NOT WITH AMERICAN R. C.

That the Tuberculosis association is no longer connected with the American Red Cross was pointed out today by Mrs. Amelia Meagher, executive secretary of the Orange county branch of the white plague organization.

The two institutions were separated in 1920 when the Tuberculosis association had grown to the point where it was able to proceed without assistance from the Red Cross.

Mrs. Meagher explained the situation in order to clear up what she termed as misconceptions of the relation between the two organizations. They are just as friendly as before their dissolution of partnership. The Red Cross is concentrating on its annual roll call, while the Tuberculosis association is handling the sale of Christmas seals.

THESE PEOPLE MAY BE GREAT BRITAIN'S NEXT ROYAL FAMILY

Duke of York Will Succeed to English Throne If Prince of Wales Remains Bachelor

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The British public is just beginning to wake up to the fact that the second son of King George may some day be the most important man in the kingdom.

All of which is only another way of saying that Albert, Duke of York, has a chance of being elevated to the throne of England.

And a chubby, roly-poly baby girl, the tiny Princess Elizabeth, only child of the duke, may be destined to reign as England's queen.

In court circles these eventualities to the comings and goings of the Duke of York.

What sort of chap is he, anyway, this younger brother of the famous Wales?

To begin with, it is safe to say that he would be every bit as popular as Wales if he were as well known. He is a modest, rather shy chap of 31, likable in the extreme, fully aware of the responsibilities that are his and, like Wales, thoroughly democratic and unassuming.

Doubtless it will surprise most people to learn it, but York is considered the best-dressed prince in England. His sartorial get-up is chosen with even more care than that of Wales, and his taste in clothes runs to somewhat gayer patterns and cuts.

The responsibilities of his position have made him studious and thorough. He is deeply interested in labor matters, is president of the Industrial Welfare society and is constantly working to bring about a better understanding.

He is forever studying factory conditions at first hand; many a factory superintendent has learned that the duke likes to drop in unexpectedly at a manufacturing plant and make a thorough tour of inspection.

He is fully as ardent a sportsman as the Prince of Wales, too. He plays an excellent game of tennis, is a very fair golfer and while in the navy distinguished himself as a distance runner. In addition he is rated a good crocketer and in his youth he played a good game of football.

The duke has a very respectable war record. Unlike the Prince of Wales, he was not kept forever secluded behind the lines; at the battle of Jutland he was under fire on the battleship Collingwood and later he was transferred to the air force, making a number of flights in France.

At present the duke holds the rank of commander in the navy and captain in the royal air force. Military men will tell you that these titles were earned, too, and not handed him on a silver platter. The duke went through the regular British naval training school just like any other British youth and served a long apprenticeship afloat.

The duke has lately devoted considerable time to a novel establishment of his own invention—a summer camp for boys in Kent. At this camp sons of aristocrats and sons of factory hands mingle annually for fortnightly periods, with the duke in attendance as general supervisor. This camp is in line with his attempts to promote better understanding between England's rather widely-separated upper and lower classes.

Constant activity marks the duke's daily life. He once played a widely heralded game of golf with Frank Hodges, well known mine union leader. On another occasion he was photographed piloting a locomotive into Euston station, London. He also is kept busy with ceremonial matters, representing his nation at many royal functions and state ceremonies throughout Europe.

The duke's wife, Princess Elizabeth, is charming and popular. She was born Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, and the home of her titled family is the famous Glamis castle, where Shakespeare's Macbeth started on his bloody career. She started on his bloody career. She "not one of these modern girls, thank heaven!" and her marriage to the duke, four years ago, was heralded throughout the kingdom as a love match, pure and simple. Incidentally, it is worth nothing that the Prince of Wales always addresses her as "Queen Elizabeth"—as though he knew that she would some day be queen in sober fact.

LOCAL POLICE EXPERT SHOTS OF SOUTHLAND

That Santa Ana Police officers still are the crack pistol shots that they were a year ago when they won a number of contests with other police pistol teams of the Southland, is evident by the record a number of them have made during the past five weekly shoots held at their range on West Edinger street.

Although no competitive shoots have been held during the past several months, seven officers of the squad have averaged more than 240 points, out of a possible score of 300, in five straight shoots.

The average as figured out today, after yesterday's shoot are: Perry, 270 1-2; Lentz, 257 2-5; Hershey, 249 3-5; Wolford, 249 2-5; Peterson, 240; Elliott, 240; and Wolfel, 234 3-5.

NO EGGS

Francis Pruett, 4-year-old son of a Kansas City couple, was taken from doctor to doctor in an effort to learn the cause of his eczema. Finally one physician ordered that he be given no more eggs. The boy showed improvement. Then the doctor ordered that the people around him quit eating eggs. He improved still further. His skin is almost without a blemish now, but whenever he gets near an egg, he shows symptoms of eczema. Physicians have told him he never may be able to eat them.

Tiernan Concern In New Quarters

Bob Fernandez, manager of the Tiernan Typewriter company, said the new location had been procured because of the additional floor space available.

DOG HOPPED IN CAR: SALESMAN PAYS $50 FINE

"Judge, I just opened the door of the car and the dog hopped right in. When he did that, what was I to do?"

Thus spoke G. Chris Vollmer, Los Angeles soap salesman in Justice court yesterday afternoon, when he was being given a hearing on a charge of petty theft, in connection with the stealing of a Boston Bull pup owned by H. F. Leisz, Garden Grove.

According to the evidence brought out in the case, Vollmer went to the Leisz home to sell a few cakes of soap. When he left, the dog left with him.

Leisz now has recovered his pup from Vollmer, so Justice Morrison fined the soap peddler $50.

ALLEGED STILL OPERATORS ARE ORDERED HELD

SEVENTY-FIVE PER CENT OF NATION'S INCOME IS USED TO DEFRAY COST OF WARS

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Armistice day found numerous speakers dilating on the glories of war, but few bothered to mention the expense.

The merest glance at the federal government's expenditures reveals that war is far and away our most costly luxury. Obviously, the greatest loss of the World war was to be compiled from the casualty lists, but it has been over for nine years and the American people are still paying out more than 75 per cent of all the money that comes in and out of the treasury to defray the direct cost of that war and of preparation for the next.

The treasury collected more than four billion dollars in the fiscal year of 1927, and paid out more than three billions for war bills and the national defense. The figures for 1928 will show no great divergence.

Receipts were $4,129,394,000. The surplus was $635,000,000 and that was applied to debt reduction, making a total direct war and defense outlay of $3,165,000,000. Debt retirement ..... $1,156,000,000 Interest on debt ..... 787,000,000 Army and navy ..... 680,000,000 Veterans' Bureau ..... 391,000,000 Pensions ..... 221,000,000

Seventy million dollars should be deducted from the army appropriation in figuring the total war burden, to approximate the amount spent on rivers and harbors.

Lighten Burden

For various reasons, the burden will not soon be lightened appreciably. These reasons include the likelihood that European nations will eventually pay no more than a fraction of their debts to us and the fact that disarmament conferences have failed and that even now large appropriations for new cruisers are being demanded in Congress. There may never be any more huge surpluses like those of 1927 and 1928, which means that while a few hundred millions less in future years will be taken from the taxpayers and applied to the war debt, neither the war debt itself or the enormous interest charge can be radically reduced.

Another big war in the next few years probably would force us to pay large sums on debts and other martial obligations until well after the year 2000.

Since 1920, the annual debt reductions have gone up and down from year to year. The figure paid exceeded a billion dollars in 1920, 1922, 1924 and 1927. In 1921 it was $221,000,000, in 1923 $614,000,000, in 1925 $735,000,000 and in 1926 $873,000,000.

The annual interest charge, which ate up approximately one-sixth the national revenue at its last year's sum of $787,000,000, has dropped from more than a billion dollars in the years 1920 and 1923.

War and navy department appropriations reached their present peacetime level in 1924, but they represented a terrific gouge at the national pocketbook for two or three years after the armistice. In 1920, army and navy expenditures were $2,347,000,000 and in 1921 $1,752,000,000, as compared with $832,000,000 in 1922 and $680,000,000 last year.

The Veterans' bureau expenditures, which includes those for hospitalization, insurance, vocational training and other benefits for ex-service men, have averaged more than $400,000,000 a year since 1922, reaching a peak of $462,000,000 for 1923.

Pension expenditures have remained about the same. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon is understood to have compiled an exhaustive and detailed analysis

Blame Wild Dog For Night Visits

CASHMERE, Nov. 18.—A mysterious, large, wild dog that has been appearing on the outskirts of the city and around country homes for some time under cover of night in quest of food, and that has thus far successfully evaded all attempts at his capture, is said to be a large German police dog that escaped his owner, A. W. Ruedi, formerly of this place, last spring, according to William A. Doelle, county game commissioner.

About 100 turkeys have disappeared from the Pete Carter ranch here the past several months, it was stated, and the mystery dog is credited with having got his share. Under cover of night the dog comes out of the hills where he has made his hiding place since his escape. He is seldom seen. Traps and pitfalls have been laid in vain for him.

Ruedi obtained the dog from Seattle last spring and for several weeks had been attempting to domesticate him, when he escaped.

Try Magnesia For Indigestion

People who suffer from indigestion usually have tried pepsin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and got little more than slight temporary relief—sometimes not even that.

But before giving up to chronic dyspepsia, just try the effect of a little Bismarck Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate or milk, but pure Bismarck Magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powder or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or four tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment, and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat. You can enjoy your meals without a fear of indigestion.—Adv.

FOURTH YEAR IS HARDEST IN MARRIED LIFE

By ESTO BROUGHTON
Staff Correspondent, Santa Ana Register

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 18.—While there is plenty of latitude in modern marriage, L. E. Ross, California's psychological statistician, maintains that some geographical latitudes and longitudes are more dangerous for the sailing of matrimonial barbs than others.

"Out west" it is usually the wife, who starts to legally rock the "companion-ship," he pointed out today upon completing a study of the latest compilation of divorce figures. California wives are the suitors in 75 per cent of all the divorces obtained, he says.

The honeymoon usually lasts through at least 12 lunar moons in the golden state statistics indicating that less than a dozen of the 12,000 divorces granted during the past year were granted within the first year of marriage.

After that, dissatisfaction with the other spouse develops gradually until it reached a peak in California in the fourth year of wedded life when the highest proportion of divorces are demanded by "tired" husbands and wives. The annual rate of smashing the nuptial bonds then remains fairly steady until about the tenth year, Ross states.

In the "sage brush country" of Nevada, the call of freedom is loud and marriages do not last so long. A higher percentage of Nevada divorces are secured during the first year of marital life than in any other matrimonial latitude. Apparently in the mining state if marriages are not engineered by "gold diggers" at least they are short and snappy like a Weepah "gold rush."

While the wife averages in the United States a score of three to one over the husband in her race to the divorce court for a solution of her matrimonial troubles, the Reno shiks are more aggressive in their demands for freedom from the wife who irks than most casulline partners. Nearly 40 per cent of the Nevada complaints are registered by the "boss of the range," the divorce statistician computes.

Southern chivalry does not extend to the divorce courts, in Ross' opinion. The polite "Mason and Dixon" doctrine of "ladies first, huh," does not appear to reach the latitude of conjugal differences, according to his figures, for in Mississippi approximately as many husbands as wives file divorce complaints.

The husbands of North Carolina, Florida and Alabama are not far behind Mississippians in their pursuit of freedom from tiresome wives.

South Carolina's solution of the divorce question was to write into her laws the once unpopular "abandonment" principle, the statistical expert asserted. Marriage has been a "closed shop" in South Carolina since 1878 when divorce for any cause was abolished in that state. California still maintains her reputation as the "land of the free" with the highest per capita divorce rate, Ross states. Although he points out, when the figures for this year are completed, Nevada may edge this state out since the "three-months divorce law" has drawn an added influx of patrons to Nevada's divorce "mill."

SHIP RAMS BRIDGE; MOTORISTS' DETOUR

When the City of Joliet, U. S. shipping board vessel, rammed the Old Spanish Trail highway bridge at Westlake, La., destroying the lift, tourists had to detour 100 miles. It was said the ship was empty and the wheel did not take enough water to make the turn to a wharf near the bridge.

STORM DRAINAGE PROBLEM IS BEING GIVEN CONSIDERATION BY HIGH COUNTY OFFICIALS

The growing importance of the storm drainage problem on county highways is today being considered by county officials as a result of several communications which came before the board of supervisors at the last session.

Paul Bailey, flood control engineer, and Nat Neff, highway superintendent, recently conferred on the question. Whether the subject will come within the province of Bailey's work has not been decided. It is conceded that the project of caring for storm waters would necessitate a number of small protection districts.

Nearly a score of Tustin residents had before the supervisors a letter drawing their attention to conditions there, which they believe are serious. The communication pointed out that the recent rebuilding of the state highway near there, with the lowering of grades and creation of storm drains is carrying rain water away from the territory north of First street.

"This water," said the letter, "added to what had previously been taken from its natural flow by the original construction of the highway, and forced to flow south on D street and Newport road to Mitchell avenue, is now coming in such volume as to be considered dangerous, thereby causing fear of property damage."

One reason for conditions similar to the one referred to in the Tustin letter is said to be the fact that the soil on either side of the roads has been graded and cultivated up to the highway level, thereby filling up the natural drain along the streets. The letter was referred to Neff.

Representatives of the Newbert Protection district also brought a flood matter before the board, pointing out that the point of land at the junction of the Santa Ana river and the Santiago creek is in danger of being overflowed. The curving course of the river at this point is said to have resulted in a swirling of waters which washes over the projection.

The necessity for water conservation was stressed in a letter from the Yorba Linda Water company, which objected to the proposed granting of a right-of-way to the Union Oil company for the construction of a pipe line across a county highway. The right-of-way request has been before the board, according to the letter, and means that the oil company is hoping to take water from the Santa Ana river.

The letter stated that the water

TRAFFIC RULES ARE DISOBEYED ASSERTS CHIEF

Pedestrians are not conforming with the traffic signals at Fourth and Main streets and at Fourth street and Broadway.

Some of them are not even sure there is a city ordinance governing the time when they can walk back and forward across the intersection, Chief of Police Claude Rogers said today.

"We are having trouble making pedestrians obey the traffic signals, not the drivers of cars. Several have even stopped the officer on the corner and wanted to know where he got his authority," Rogers said.

The authority is contained in city ordinance No. 817, which is the traffic ordinance of the city, according to Rogers. Section 12 of this ordinance specifically states that pedestrians shall obey all traffic officers and street signals.

Rogers has not threatened to make arrests of pedestrians who disobey the traffic signals, but he

'CITY SQUAWK' HOUSE ORGAN FOR MUNICIPAL EMPLOYEES, IS LATEST PUBLICATION IN S. A.

"The City Squawk" made its appearance today as an occasional publication chronicling events of interest to city employees. In fact, it was announced by Mrs. Ruby Bush, secretary to City Manager E. B. Collier, that attempt will be made to get the issue out twice a month—and she ought to know, for she pleads guilty to being editor of the "Squawk."

Lloyds To Quit Ledger Systems

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The last of the most famous, and probably the largest ledgers now in use by any concern in the city of London, are being filled in.

Lloyds, the world renowned corporation dealing with all matters pertaining to shipping, are to exchange quarters and when the change takes place at the beginning of the new year, instead of massive ledgers lining the walls of the members' rooms, a series of card indexes will be found in position, ready to take up the tale of the movements of merchant ships in all parts of the world.

The ledgers which are to be discarded measure about 2'x1'9" and weigh about as much as the average man cares to carry.

In these massive volumes all ship movements are recorded. The date of sailing is in red ink, the date of arrival in black and any casualties and mishaps are in blue ink.

In the cellars of Lloyds repose shipping ledgers going back to 1828.

Gilbert Martine, of the fruit ranch, who has been in the Santa Ana hospital, recovering rapidly and will be brought home some time this week.

The Misses Lucille and Leota Sears spent the week-end in Pasadena.

In introducing the publication to a surprised, but appreciative clientele, the editor explains its purpose as follows:

"This little sheet is coming to you principally for the purpose of establishing a better acquaintance and a closer friendship between the employees of the city of Santa Ana. As such employees, we should be better acquainted and should at least be able to recognize the names of our fellow-workers. How often has someone asked you, 'does Mr. So and So work for the city?' And how often have you been forced to reply—'I don't know; I am only acquainted with the employees in my department.' If this sheet to any extent eliminates that distant departmental feeling that has existed, it will indeed serve its purpose.

"We will attempt to bring to you chiefly the sunny side of our employment, therefore the best joke on the other fellow will always be welcome. Of course, it may be on you next time.

"Just one more thought—it is not the intention to make this a city hall bulletin. In fact, there are more employees on the outside than in the hall and it is the fellows outside who keep the wheels rolling. Their part of the work for the city is just as important as the white collared bunch in the offices, so we want a lot of contributions from the outside."

And then this "female editress" strikes a sympathetic chord that will vibrate in the hearts of no inconsiderable number of people in this vicinity by making the following comments on turkey day:

"Soon be Turkey Day. For various reasons I seldom have the opportunity to appreciate California turkey. Seems like about this time of the year the roof leaks or the old car needs new shoes or the mortgage comes due—just when I'm thinking how good the Thanksgiving turkey will taste. Each year I've expected to win one at Mayor Purinton's market—in fact, each year he has told me I would—and each year he has turned out to be an awful prevaricator. Yes—each year I buy a nickles worth at that market and a dime worth at that and then all over again and by the time I finish the weeks shopping I've managed to obtain two or three chances on these said turkeys from each place of business—then I spend about half an hour writing the names and addresses of the various members of the family on the tickets (everybody from the pet cat to the star boarder gets a chance)—then I return faithfully each Saturday night to hear the announcer announce but the announcements this announcer announces result in my eating pork—and a lot of folks say I shouldn't do that either. Well, the Mayor says, beensness is beensness and he certainly knows his tolkeys."

Chiropractic Will Get You Well

Your body at one time functioned normally, and if given the chance will do so again. Pinched nerves are the cause of most human ailments, and by removing this pressure we are able to restore permanent relief from your sickness or disease. Why does your foot fall asleep when you cross your legs? Simply because you are producing pressure upon the great sciatic nerve, thus cutting off the nerve force to that extremity. A spinal nerve pressure acts much in the same way. It is difficult to walk when your feet are numb, likewise the organs or parts of your body will not function properly when they do not receive the proper amount of nerve energy.

Interesting News Of The Day Told In Pictures

Naomi Johnson, Folies brunette, wanted to marry into the diplomatic set and fell an easy prey to deception, she told a New York court upon suing for annulment of her union to John M. Cirne. He was not attached to the Brazilian embassy at the time of their marriage, as she believed, she said.

Valentine Noga bragged that he had the "finest whiskers and best whiskey" in Burnham, a suburb of Chicago, prohibition agents charged. He was arrested, being identified by his mustache.

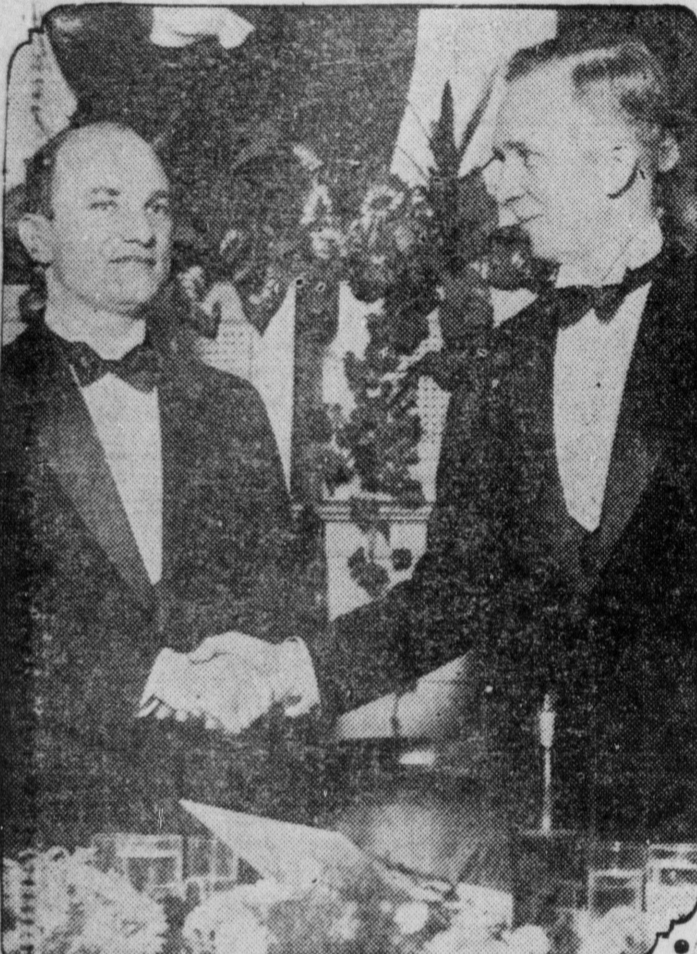

Mrs. Eva Russ, of Cleveland, the other day became the mother of a 17-pound baby girl. The infant, born apparently lifeless, breathed after physicians had spent the entire night working to give the child life. The father, Frank Russ, says the blue-eyed girl will be named Catherine.

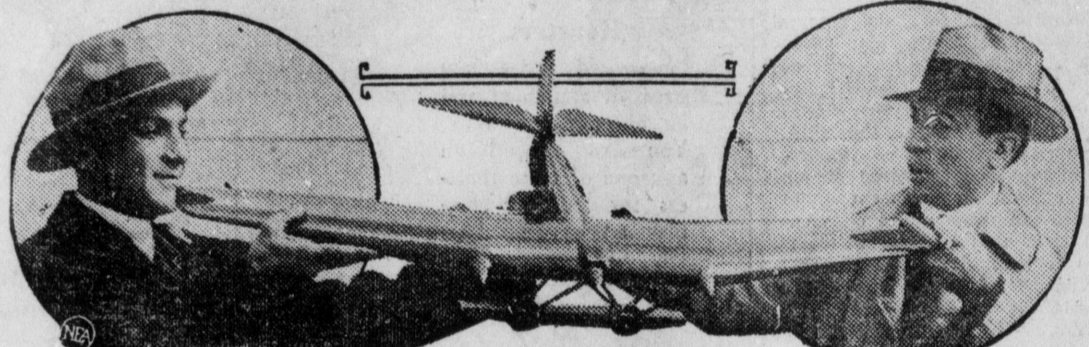

Thirty-six hours after she met George E. Harding Jr., an Illinois university sophomore, Edith Lord (above) of Elkhart, Ind., was his wife. Young Harding, whose father is a Chicago real estate man, first saw her directing a girls' band on a vaudeville stage at Champaign, Ill. He obtained an introduction and they were married the next night, after the theater performance. The bridegroom went back to his studies, while the bride went on to Springfield, Ill., to continue leading her "flapper band."

John (Daddy) Quick, of Vancouver, B. C., has just celebrated his 107th birthday and he still keeps busy at a man's job. He is shown here making patterns for women's dresses, while Mrs. Aubrey A. Naef, of Seattle, looks on. Mr. Quick was born in 1820 in England, 150 miles from London. He formerly was a carriage maker. In 1862 he walked from New York to Cleveland.

For the first time since they parted in Europe, Clarence Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic flyer (right) and his passenger, Charles Levine, met at a banquet of the Unity club, in Brooklyn.

Upon their return from Europe, Alexander Kartveloff (left), and John Carisi, technicians associated with Charles A. Levine, first transatlantic air passenger, displayed a model of the great passenger seaplane Levine hopes to put into United States-European service next year. It will accommodate 50 air voyagers, carry 4500 gallons of fuel and be powered by seven motors, any three of which will supply the requisite flying power.

Rev. Gill Robb Wilson, of Trenton, N. J., elected chaplain of the American Legion at the Paris convention, started his World war service in the French ambulance corps. He became an aviator, won a croix de guerre, and was with the A. E. F. air service in the Soissons, St. Mihiel, Champagne and Meuse-Argonne sectors.

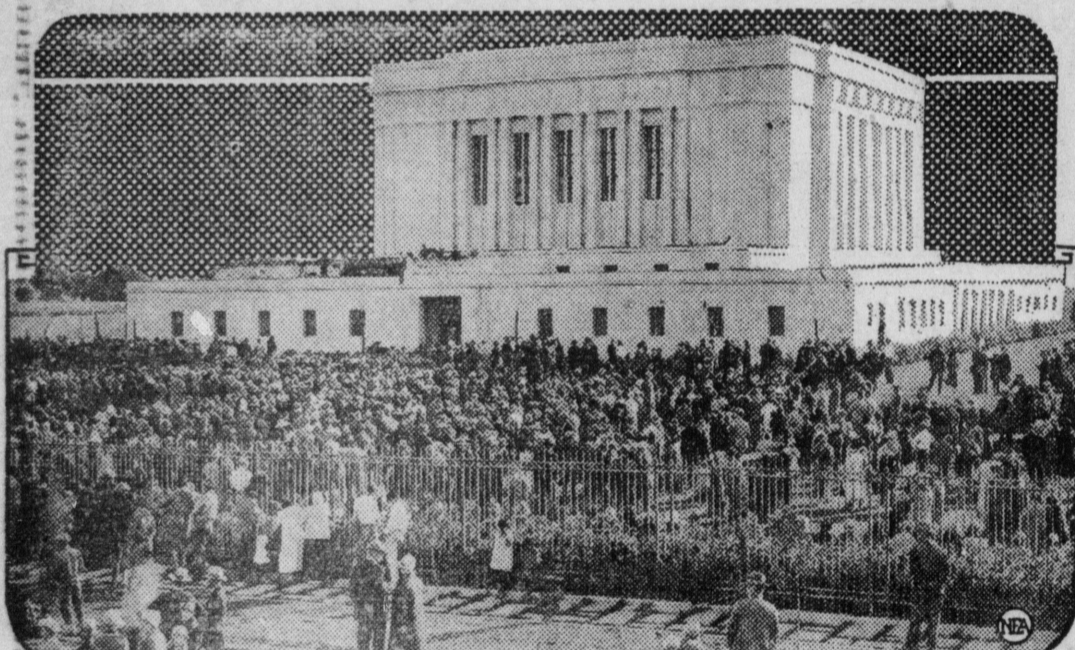

Red Grange, "galloping ghost" of the gridiron, and Lois Delander, Miss America this year, met the other day at Aurora, Ill. Red doesn't seem a bit angry about it as he took the young lady for a ride in his classy car. Grange has been carrying a cane lately. He does his galloping now for the New York Yankees, a professional football team.

This vibrator is now a stable mate of the Presidential electric horse at the White House. It is said that Mr. Coolidge sometimes tires of his bobbing mechanical mount and takes a shimmy at the vibrator for variety. Cora Stephens and Beth Milton were exhibiting it at the New York electrical show when this photo was made.

Mrs. Jack Sullivan, nee Anita De Valle, has gone back to her home in Toronto, Ont., after a couple of years of thrills in the wild west. Mrs. Sullivan, said to be the daughter of a prominent society woman, was arrested as head of a band of smugglers and bandits, and recently was freed from jail at Grand Island, Neb.

A crowd estimated at 30,000 people witnessed the ceremony of dedication of the Arizona temple, at Mesa, Ariz., by President Heber J. Grant, of the Church of Jesus of Christ of Latter-day Saints. Following the exercises the magnificent structure was closed to the public and will be used only for religious rituals. The picture shows part of the crowd.

Jimmy Walker, New York's dapper chief executive, is now a fellow tribesman of President Coolidge. You see him here after the Blackfeet Indians adopted him at city hall and gave him a becoming war bonnet and the high-sounding title of "A-Ka-Ki-To-Pi" or "Big Chief Many Rider." With him here (left) is Two Guns White Calf, whose visage adorns the obverse side of the buffalo nickel, and Chief Own Heavy Breast.

Mariane Browning, 35, daughter of Mayor George E. Browning of Ogden, Utah, recently became the bride of Count Eian Luca Zicogna of Milan, Italy. The couple met abroad where the mayor's daughter was studying opera. The mayor performed the ceremony.

Prettier of all English children, in the opinion of many artists, is 6-year-old Jill Chander. All alone, she voyaged across the sea to New York, where our fortunate photoman made this stunning shot.

Roy L. Gray, of Fort Madison, Ia., selected by a magazine after a national survey as the average American man, is pictured here as he looks over Chicago from the roof of a hotel. Gray's home town also was named the average city.

With two newspapermen as witnesses, Tex Rankin, Portland, Ore., aviator, claims a new altitude record for planes of less than 100 h. p. In his 90-h. p. OX-5 he climbed to 12,030 feet to beat the old record of 11,000 feet. He also carried enough gasoline on the trip to remain aloft five hours.

Mabel Boll, whose fabulous jewelry has won her the sobriquet of "Queen of Diamonds," comes back by steamer to her native United States from her adopted France. It was Mabel who offered Charles A. Levine a whole flock of currency to fly her from Paris to New York. He refused and now, Mabel announced, she's going to outfit her own aerial expedition and hop the Atlantic next spring.

$28,000 SUIT FILED AGAINST ORANGE DEALER

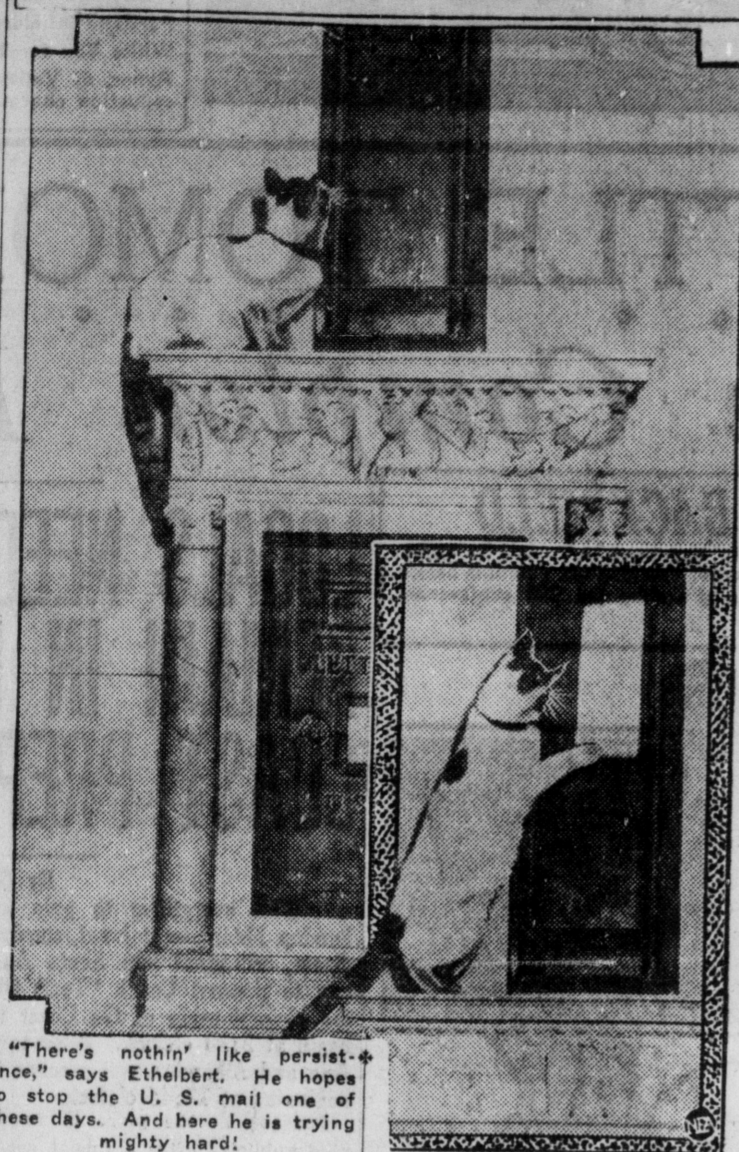

Alleging that she was induced through fraud to make an exchange of property, Charlotte V. Barton, of Santa Ana, today initiated a suit for $28,000 against Huecroft and Lewis, Orange real estate dealers, and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hunter, of Anaheim.

She declared that after she completed the trade in which her home at 710 South Ross street, was exchanged for an orange grove, she discovered that she had been the victim of supposed fraudulent representations.

The defendants are said to have claimed that the property they transferred was worth $20,000, that it will earn between $2500 and $4000 a year and that it can be exchanged for Los Angeles property worth $20,000.

The plaintiff has come to a point where she doubts the authenticity of these figures. She is represented by the firm of Harvey and Harvey.

HE'LL CATCH 'EM YET!

"There's nothin' like persistence," says Ethelbert. He hopes to stop the U. S. mail one of these days. And here he is trying mighty hard!

Alas! Poor Ethelbert! He's Finding This Life So Futile

By JAMES POWERS
NEA Service Writer
NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Life is so futile!—alas!—the case of Ethelbert.

Ethelbert has a serious ambition. At least Ethelbert takes it seriously, watching daily for his chance, two gray eyes cocked so hopefully, gray whiskers groomed so jauntily.

For some day, you see, Ethelbert expects to do something BIG. He hopes to stop the U. S. mail.

Each morning he perches atop the heavy brass box at the foot of the mail chute in the county courthouse here, where his owner, Chief Clerk Edward Horn, also works.

Ethelbert, you must understand, is a cat. Otherwise they probably would not let him perch on top of the courthouse mail box every day.

His self-appointed undertaking is some day, somehow, to catch the mail as it whizzes down the glass chute into the container below.

For hours Ethelbert sits tense, alert, tail rippling slowly, whiskers quivering against the glass, waiting for the faint rustle that heralds the descent of an envelope. Instantly he crouches.

Swish—and Ethelbert's paw flashes. Swish-swish-swish, a white shower zips by. Ethelbert is on his hind legs now, pawing frantically. Then a silence. Relaxation. The vigil is resumed only to be broken by another flurry. And so it goes all the day.

GOOD REMEDY FOR BAD COUGH

Clerks, stenographers, taxpayers pause daily in the lobby. Friendly Advice

"Poor cat!" they sympathize. "Nice Ethelbert! Why don't you curl up by the radiator? Why don't you go catch a mouse?"

But Ethelbert ignores them with pained dignity. He wants only to catch a letter.

And if he ever does— On the face of the bronze container is posted a warning: "a reward of $1000 will be paid for the arrest and conviction of anyone caught tampering with this box."

Poor Ethelbert! Even in his hour of triumph he'd probably be arrested and thrown into the clink.

Life is so futile!

Jews Emigrate

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Official statistics give the number of immigrants into Palestine during August as 283, including 190 Jews. Emigrants for the same period number 748, including 571 Jews, of whom 476 had been settled in the country since 1920.

MOCK TRIAL AT Y. M. C. A. HELD LAST EVENING

The regular meeting of the E. C. club, the young men's division of the Y. M. C. A. took an unusual turn last evening when it staged a mock trial and found one of their members, Renton Dodge, guilty of failure to support the club by refusing to eat with members of the club. The club also held the first ladies' night since their organization two months ago.

Two weeks ago Dodge disappeared from the Y. M. C. A. just at the time when the club gathered for dinner. Half an hour later he showed up and absolutely refused to eat the dinner prepared in the culinary department of the Y. M. C. A.

The program committee saw an opportunity for some real entertainment and accordingly arranged a mock trial which was held last evening. Through the courtesy of Chief of Police L. C. Rogers, the services of A. T. Holmes, one of the city policemen was secured to make the arrest which took place during the meeting of the club. It came as an absolute surprise to Dodge.

The charge against Dodge was based upon his failure to support the club by refusal to eat the regular club dinner. It was proven that beans were served on the night of Dodge's disappearance and also that Dodge disliked beans, consequently after he had been found guilty he was sentenced to eat nothing but beans at the regular meetings of the club for the next four weeks.

TWO STARS ARE COLORED

SANTA ANA, ALHAMBRA BATTLE TOMORROW

Dons Hope To Upset Unbeaten Compton Eleven

COACH COOK'S COLLEGIANS ASSAIL DEFENSE OF J. C. RACE LEADERS TOMORROW

Despite the fact that the Santa Ana junior college gridders are completely out of the race for the championship of the southern California Junior College conference, the big chance to defeat the champions and gain consolation from that in the stead of actual pennant honors will be given the Don gridmen when they meet the Compton eleven tomorrow at Compton. Coach Bill Cook has been laying his plans during the past week with that object in view.

This Team Wins Prize For Worst Record

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The title of most unsuccessful football team of the country goes to Upsala college of East Orange, N. J., which has a record of no points scored in seven games and 285 points scored against it.

ERNIE JOHNSON GLAD PORTLAND TO TRAIN HERE

Nobody was happier than Ernie Johnson, the peppery pilot of the Portland Pacific Coast league baseball club, when it was definitely announced that the Ducks would do their training next spring at the Orange County Fair grounds, being the first team ever to select this district for such purposes.

Johnson is a dyed-in-the-wool Orange county booster. He is a property owner at Laguna Beach, resides there during the off-season and he put in a good word for the fair grounds with his "higher-ups"—Tom L. Turner, Roy Mack and Gus Moser—whenever and wherever he got a chance. "I believe Orange county is as logical a place for a ball club to train as any other locality in the country," Johnson said. "We have the climate and the grounds and are geographically situated so that exhibition contests may be arranged conveniently with strong opponents. Furthermore, I see no reason why the project should not be a success financially."

Johnson said the vanguard of the Portland squad, including most of the pitchers and catchers, would reach Santa Ana near the middle of February for an extra week of conditioning before the bulk of the club arrives. Meanwhile, J. R. Hunt, manager of the Orange county fair, who has been put in charge of the training camp proposition for the underwriters, has begun the problem of disposing in Orange county communities a total of 1000 season tickets to the 10 exhibition games Portland will play.

The Compton team will take the field with all the dope based on comparative scores in its favor. However, Coach Cook is not so secretive this week without purpose. The team that will do battle for the Santa Ana junior college tomorrow will be coached especially to meet the Compton attack.

Against the driving power of the enemy, Coach Cook intends to match speed and deception. The starting lineup for the backfield will include the late cripples, "Pete" Twist and Bill Luck, as halfbacks. That means that the Dons will have two fast, shifty open-field runners prepared to skirt the ends and weave around on triple passes. Captain Blanchard Beatty will play quarterback and Luke Davis fullback. On the line the starting lineup will be composed of Don Woodington at center; John Fitz and John Casey, guards; Harry Weavering and Keith Farrar, tackles, and Mark Martin and Spencer Stewart, ends.

BIG TEN TITLE AT STAKE TOMORROW

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—The 1927 football championship of the Big Ten conference hinges on two games to be played tomorrow, one at Columbus, where Illinois meets Ohio State, and the other at Ann Arbor, where Michigan and Minnesota renew hostilities. If play runs true to form Illinois and Minnesota should win, thus giving Illinois the best claim to the title by virtue of five victories, no ties and no defeats as compared with Minnesota's record of three victories and one tie. If Illinois should win and Minnesota should lose, then Illinois would be the undisputed champion.

DRURY WILL START AGAINST COUGARS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—Coach Howard Jones of the University of Southern California definitely announced after practice yesterday that he would start Captain Morley Drury against the Washington State Cougars here tomorrow. Drury has been favoring a gash above the eye received in practice. Jones, it is known, has been wary of the Cougars since they upset him in 1925 and plans to start his best lineup.

hibition games Portland will play. The books will sell at $5 each and will be good for all contests during the series.

FOUR SPEED MERCHANTS IN "POP" WARNER'S BACKFIELD

You see a team of speed and deception in action when you see "Pop" Warner's Stanford eleven playing. You have to be fast to make Warner's backfield. These four young men—Don Hill, Bob Sims, Dick Hyland and Frank Wilton—are four of the slickest running backs on the Pacific Coast. They're all fast; they're all smart; they're all elusive. They carry Stanford's hopes of ending the 1927 conference season undefeated, although she has been tied, 13-13, this year by Southern California.

FAIR WEATHER PROMISED AS 88,000 AWAIT ANNUAL GAME BETWEEN CARDINALS, BEARS

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 18.—Fair weather was promised the 88,000 alumni, students and fans who will attend the annual "Big Game" of the west here tomorrow when the University of California Bears and the Stanford Cardinals battle once more for gridiron supremacy.

JULIA LATHROP TEAM DEFEATS TUSTIN 'BEES'

Julia C. Lathrop junior high school's football team won its second victory of the week when it defeated the Tustin high school Class B team 6 to 0 at Tustin yesterday afternoon. The Santa Anans took the ball on their own 40 yard line after the kickoff in the first quarter, and by means of off tackle plays and end runs scored the lone touchdown of the game in the first eight minutes of play without once losing possession of the ball.

With the exception of this first drive down the field in the first quarter, however, the Lathrop offense looked terribly weak mainly due to the excellent defense of Coach "Eeny" Wilcox's team.

In the third period the Tustin team had the ball on Lathrop's 12-yard line after a series of end runs and a 30 yard pass, but lost the ball on downs and Lathrop punted out of danger.

Julia Lathrop did not show nearly as much power in their game yesterday as they did earlier in the week with their game at Huntington Beach. Coach Ferris Scott believes his South Main streeters will have to improve a great deal, especially on the offense, if they hope to be victorious over the strong Memorial junior high school aggregation of San Diego which they are to play in a curtain-raiser to the Santa Ana-San Diego game November 26 at San Diego.

The two teams relaxed today, awaiting the great moment of the year. Coach "Pop" Warner, of California, pronounced their charges in prime condition. Experts and fans alike were reluctant today to attempt to pick winners, aside from natural prejudices. The year's games give Stanford an advantage but the power shown by the Bears against Washington last week has changed the paper dope.

Coach Price announced his lineup will consist of weight. His starting backfield will be the heavy members of the squad — Evans, Lom, Newman and Dougery—and full weight will be thrown into the line. The announcement was interpreted as meaning that the Bears will start with a defensive game, with the flashy backs—including Barr, Clymer and Gill—seeing action later in the game.

Barr ran 75 yards to cross the Washington goal last week, only to be denied a touchdown because California was offside.

The fast backfield of the Californians showed an attack against the Huskies that makes them a real peril to the Cardinals, and it is probable that Price tomorrow will use strategy similar to that adopted last week in rushing in his offensive players when the game is right.

Hudkins Matched To Box Auerbach

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska "wildcat," who lost his chance at Joe Dundee's welterweight crown by the recent fight mixup here, has been matched to meet Herman Auerbach, Salt Lake City, in Los Angeles, November 29, Wad Wadhams, Olympic auditorium matchmaker, announced today. They will fight at 150 pounds.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA GOLF REPRESENTATIVES ASSEMBLE FOR ASSOCIATION MEETING

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—Approximately 100 delegates representing 50 Southern California golf clubs gathered at the Biltmore hotel here today for the 27th annual meeting of the Southern California Golf Association. One of the most important matters before the golfers will be the selection of a president to succeed the late Edward B. Tufts, one of the most prominent figures in the history of the sport in the Southland. The election of officers is scheduled for early afternoon. Selection of dates for all 1928 invitation tournaments, appointment of a committee to arrange for the 1928 Southern California amateur championship and of another to arrange the team match championships will be announced during the day, according to present plans. Present officers of the association are E. R. Hurst, acting president; C. W. McCabe, vice president; E. P. Barker, treasurer and Chester S. Lyday, secretary. Member clubs which will be represented by delegates and entitled to a vote include the following: California, Catalina, Coronado, El Caballero, El Centro, Escondido, Flintridge, Hollywood, Fox Hills, Lake Arrowhead, Long Beach, Montecito, Ojai, Pasadena, Rancho Redlands, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Gabriel, Santa Ana, Ventura, Westward Ho and Wilshire.

Billy Evans SAYS

WHAT WILL LOU GET? On the return of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig to New York, after a tour that started at the close of the world series and carried them as far as the Pacific coast, some one asked Gehrig how much money he expected to get next season. There is no need to recall that for almost the entire season of 1927, Gehrig pressed Ruth to the limit in the battle for home run honors. Not until after both had passed the 40 mark did Ruth begin to draw away. Ruth received $70,000 last season for playing right field and making 60 home runs to break his former record of 59, aside from doing innumerable other things that contributed to the winning of the pennant by the Yankees. Gehrig, I understand, drew $10,000 for playing first base, making 47 home runs, batting .374 and contributing many fielding feats to put the Yanks over for a pennant. Ruth hit .356.

Naturally a lot of folks are interested in what Lou Gehrig will draw down next season after the greatest year of his career.

DUE FOR BIG RAISE "I hope to get a raise, of course," was Gehrig's answer to the query as to what his salary would be. "However, I am not worrying about that, for I am sure Colonel Jack Ruppert will pay me what I deserve."

That was a mighty smart reply on the part of Gehrig and shows that he is something of a diplomat aside from Ruth's greatest rival as a slugger, Colonel Ruppert, who pays the Yankees' salaries, is always eminently fair.

Ruth's salary will be the same as last year. Prior to the opening of the 1927 season he signed for three years for the sum of $210,000, making his yearly stipend a measly $70,000. Not hard to take. While it is a cinch that Gehrig's increase won't bring him even close to the Babe in money matters, it is certain to make him one of the highest priced players in the game.

There is only one Babe Ruth. He has more color than a paint shop and is the only player who daily packs them in at the gate. He is

SPECIAL TRAIN TO SAN DIEGO GAME PLANNED

Definite plans for the operation of a special train to San Diego November 26 for the Santa Ana-San Diego football game were announced here today following a meeting of committeemen yesterday for the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, junior division, which will undertake the proposition. Round trip tickets, selling for $3.50, will be placed on sale tomorrow with the T. N. Neal and Victor Walker sporting goods stores, the Givens-Cannon pharmacy. Bob Gram at the White Cross drug store and at Santa Ana high school and Julia C. Lathrop junior high school. John Moffatt, president of the student body, will have charge of the ticket sale at Poly while those at Julia Lathrop may be obtained from Miss Nora Reid.

The time has not been set exactly but it is probable the special will leave Santa Ana at 9:30 o'clock the morning of the game, reaching San Diego shortly after 12 o'clock. The train probably will depart from San Diego about 8 o'clock. At least 125 tickets must be disposed of to assure the train. Committeemen include T. S. Hunter, chairman; Al Huneke, John Moffatt, Fred Sanford, Virgil Clem, D. S. Lemon and Eddie West.

A special football rally will be held tonight by Santa Ana high school students who will gather at Andrews gymnasium at 7:30 o'clock. Yells will be led by Orville Schuchardt and David Hill and the Misses Mildred Daley, Sherrill Spurgeon and Elpha Thoenyke will lead the singing of several school songs. The school band will be on hand. Addresses will be made by Coach "Tex" Oliver and John Moffatt, president of the student body, after which a parade will be held in the updown district. The rally will close with an informal dance at the gym.

LOCALS NEED VICTORY TO REMAIN IN RUNNING FOR COAST PREP LOOP TITLE

By GRIDDER With everything to gain and nothing to lose, a band of Alhambra Moors, as stalwart, sturdy and stubborn as their name might indicate, will steal into Santa Ana tomorrow afternoon and do all it can to prevent Coach "Tex" Oliver's Poly pigskinners from winning the championship of the Coast Preparatory league. The combat will begin at 2:30 o'clock. A set-to between the Class C elevens of Santa Ana and Alhambra will precede the first team event, the curtain-raiser beginning at 12:45 o'clock.

Basking in the glare of favorable publicity after a recent series of noteworthy accomplishments, the robust Santa Ana squad, 100 per cent physically efficient for the first time this year, must not expect to down the Moors by the simple expedient of racing out on the field.

As a matter of fact, there are reasons to believe that this will be one of the most severe contacts of the season and that Poly may have to "shoot the works," as they now are wont to term going to the utmost to win, if it is to receive the referee's nod.

Moore Ace Back in Game The Moors, also 100 per cent efficient for the first time in three weeks, will bring to the local greensward the leading defensive crew of the league and in Captain Ory Mohler, a boy from a famous athletic family, who competent critics tell us is the finest individual player in Southern California interscholastic football. Mohler is injured after a seizure with an infected foot. It will be recalled that Alhambra not only remained UNBEATEN but also UNSCORED on while he was able to lead his team on the field.

Alhambra began its season by blanking San Diego, 12 to 0 and then held Long Beach to a scoreless tie although both elevens made touchdowns that were not allowed. Whittier was bumped off, 13 to 0, in a game in which Mohler was injured. The Moor curve turns downward from here on, a 15 to 0 reversal at the hands of Whittier first jolting the squad and last Saturday's 13 to 7 trouncing by Glendale eliminating it from the race. Mohler was in the game a bit last week but he was not in condition to get away with anything.

S. A. Started Poorly Santa Ana started off as poorly as Alhambra finished, a tie with Long Beach and a 13 to 0 spanking from Whittier being the first

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Aroused by statements that he and the boxing business would be imperiled if the Dempsey-Kearns suit went through the Newark court to a jury, Tex Rickard has gone into action.

Following the postponement of the hearing of the suit in which Jack Kearns threatened to blow the lid off the boxing racket and take Rickard and Dempsey to jail with him if he went, it was reported-from exposure. One airmail pilot, who started from Chicago to Cleveland last night, was forced to return.

One woman died today in Elizabeth, N. J., from injuries she received when struck by an automobile during the storm.

Governor Green, of Michigan, and friends who joined him on a hunting trip in the upper peninsula of the state were snowbound and were expected to be unable to return to the capital for a week.

"Big Bill" Snowbound Mayor William Hale Thompson, Chicago, on a hunting expedition near Iron Mountain, also was virtually snowbound.

The middle states area from the Rocky mountains east reported temperatures were lowering and many places had snow. Vermont, just beginning to struggle from the ruins of the floods which did great damage a fortnight ago, today again faced danger from high waters. The Winooski river, which caused so much damage in the recent flood, had risen more than two feet following heavy rains.

The rains in Vermont ceased last night, giving rise to hope that the new flood menace might be abated. However, officials pointed out that the rainfall might seriously interfere with rehabilitation work, which has been going on since the last flood.

Village Under Water Philadelphia, N. Y., a village near Watertown, was under water today, following the rise of Indian creek. Many people were rescued from their homes as the little stream burst out of its banks.

In New York City, where unreasonably warm weather has existed for the past few days, temperatures dropped sharply for the week end.

Weather bureau officials attribute many of the storms, such as the wind storm which whipped Washington yesterday, to a clash of the warm air with the colder temperatures.

Three persons were killed in a motor car accident in Syracuse, N. Y., as result of slippery roads; a motorist was killed at Hawthorne, N. J., when rain prevented him from seeing an approaching train, and one man was drowned in western Pennsylvania attempting to escape from the storm.

Two were killed in Philadelphia in accidents resulting from a wind and rain storm.

Justice Department Awaits Report

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—Justice department officials awaited reports today from the U. S. district attorney in San Francisco on an alleged plot to smuggle arms and ammunition to Mexican revolutionists.

Meanwhile, the alleged involvement of a U. S. senator in the case was the chief topic of conversation at the capitol building. Senators asked each other blankly who the man involved could be.

Justice officials said they had heard of the case only through newspaper reports, but expected District Attorney Hatfield would mail them a full report on the incident.

weeks ago. Gordon said he still was ready to proceed with prosecution for contempt if the Judge issued a citation against anybody.

"I have positive views as to whom should be prosecuted," Gordon said.

In Anomalous Position He added that to act on the committee would place him in an "anomalous and inconsistent position."

Justice Siddons' reply asserted the alleged contempt was more than a mere outgrowth of the Fall-Sinclair trial.

"It is collateral and, in a sense, superior to it, in that if proved it constitutes an assault upon administration of justice an obstruction of justice and a defiance of the court's power and authority," the judge's letter said.

The inquiry, Justice Siddons said, was "to determine whether in the national capital, the administration of justice and one of the established courts therein may be successfully flouted and defied."

Intimidation Attempted Action to stop and punish alleged attempts to intimidate William J. McMullin, chief government witness in the oil jury tampering investigation, was considered by government lawyers today as they prepared to finish their grand jury case resulting from the Teapot Dome mistrial.

U. S. Attorney Gordon disclosed the effort to "discredit McMullin," who served as a government spy among Burns detectives shadowing the oil jurors. McMullin had complained by telephone from Philadelphia that "they're after me through my relatives and neighbors."

Telephone and telegraph records subpoenaed from New York were to be submitted to the grand jury today to bolster the government's case that Sinclair and his lieutenants employed the detectives in a conspiracy.

wrecked by a brief tornado out of the Potomac, today began emerging from their ruins. The death list stood at only one, miraculously.

Two hundred or more persons, most of them in Alexandria, Va., five miles distant, were injured, but the majority needed only first aid treatment.

Property damage of $1,000,000 or more was done as the tornado swept up the Potomac through the naval air station region into the homes of southeast Washington and then roared on to damage northeast Washington, Hyattsville and smaller Maryland towns.

Hundreds were made homeless. These huddled last night at the homes of friends while police and volunteers guarded their wreckage. Bitter cold, following the storm, increased their plight today.

The Red Cross was offering every assistance. Houses that lost roofs or sides were uninhabitable because all belongings were soaked by a terrific deluge of rain.

Rising Rivers Again Menace Vermont

MONTPELIER, Vt., Nov. 18.—Rising rivers became a new menace in some sections of the Vermont flood area today.

Heavy rains within the last 24 hours threatened to duplicate on a smaller scale the flood which recently took a still undetermined number of lives and caused millions of dollars property damage in President Coolidge's home state.

PROSPERITY OF COUNTRY TOLD BY PRESIDENT

to outline for your future."

Can Overcome Adversity "We have demonstrated that we are able to meet adversity and overcome it," the president said. "The test which now confronts the country is prosperity. History is littered with stories of nations destroyed by their own wealth."

Mr. Coolidge traced in terms of praise the history of the United States from the time of the Civil war to the present, attributing its spectacular success to the government's policy of protecting but not interfering unduly with industry.

"We have adopted and very generally maintained for a period of more than 100 years a system of protective tariffs," he said. "This has enabled us to develop our natural resources, furnish employment to our increasing population and markets for our various products of farm and factory."

The president said any material reduction in the tariff would inevitably result in a deflation of agricultural and industrial values and in reduction of wages. He then launched upon a discussion of current governmental policies.

Moderate Tax Reduction "Because of the past insistence on economy in national expenditures, we are in a position to have further moderate tax reduction," the president said. "But let it be remembered that tax reduction is possible solely on account of economy."

Listing items of national expense which will make gradual tax reduction necessary, Mr. Coolidge mentioned flood control, national highway construction, waterway projects in the Mississippi valley, St. Lawrence river, Columbia basin and Colorado river and more equipment for the navy and the air force.

"On the sea we shall round out our navy with more submarines and more cruisers and private ownership should provide it with an auxiliary merchant marine of fast cruiser boats," he said. "On land we shall be building up our air forces, especially by encouraging commercial aviation."

"Our rise in the world has given us new problems, new responsibilities, both domestic and foreign. The entire life of the nation, all its economic activities, have become so interrelated that maladjustment in any one of them is sufficient to cause serious disarrangement in all the rest."

"We have become one nation. We can only survive by a most elaborate system of concerted action."

National Debt "Menace" The president branded as "a menace to our credit" the $18,000,000,000 national debt. He claimed it the "greatest weakness in our line of national defense," but reminded his listeners that one-third of the financial obligations resulting from the World War have been settled since.

"The work of restoring the national finances has met with large success," he said. "The burden of taxation has been extremely heavy but it has been borne with great courage. Three times it has been materially reduced. Millions of taxpayers have been entirely relieved and heavy reduction granted to others."

Mr. Coolidge praised the character of American people as demonstrated during the World War and the years of financial recuperation.

"The great mass of our people, whatever their possessions, are conscientious and industrious, seeking to serve humanity. They know that the doctrine of ease is the doctrine of surrender and decay," the president declared. "The heart of the nation is sound."

Mr. Coolidge's address was the principal feature of ceremonies commemorating the anniversary of the Union League's organization shortly before the Civil war. Philadelphia was the seat of the union, which later enlisted membership in other cities.

Turning to foreign aspects of American relations, the president said:

Hold Great Treasure "We wish to promote peace. We hold a great treasure. It must be protected. Our relationship with the vast territory between the Rio Grande and Cape Horn in a commercial way will become more intimate. Much of that country could be greatly benefited by lines of aviation, which we should hasten to assist them to open. A good system of highways should join the principal points in North and South America. While their own governments must necessarily build there, we can assist in their financing. These will be some of the demands of a judicious management of the national finances.

"We have been drawn into close relationship with other nations. As inventions have closed up the intervals between different countries they have been brought nearer together, not only physically but economically and morally. We are more concerned than ever with our foreign affairs. The wealth of our people is going out in a constant stream of record dimensions for restoration and development in all parts of the world.

Refrain From Interference "We want our moral influence to be on the side of liberty, of education, of fair elections, and of honest constitutional government. Where our obligations to our own citizens under international law have required it we have extended our help to those who were attempting to secure these results. But we have refrained from meddling interference, because we recognize no only the right but the necessity for each people to work out their own destiny.

"This, I believe, is a fair representation of what has been taking place in the immediate past and what we have hope for in the immediate future."

After his address, Mr. Coolidge returned to Washington.

PASADENA MEN BUY BANK AT LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 18.—Transfer of the controlling interest of the Citizens' bank, rumored for several weeks, was confirmed today, when G. D. Houston, president, and W. R. Coy, vice president, representing the new interest, made public the change of officials, with the statement that stock belonging to E. H. Wood, formerly president, George S. Johnston, James E. Neal, formerly vice president and cashier, and others not named had been purchased.

Both Houston and Coy are from Pasadena and are connected with financial resources that are expected to become available eventually to finance building in Laguna Beach, though the new officers would make no definite statement concerning this at present.

No immediate change in the bank is contemplated, though negotiations are under way, according to Mr. Coy, to increase the space used by the bank, which is housed in the Yoch building, corner Coast boulevard and Laguna avenue.

James E. Neal, former vice president and cashier expects to take a vacation and rest, which probably will include a trip east to his former home.

Changes in the staff of the bank include the promotion of Verner F. "Cotton" Rush to the post of cashier. He previously was secretary and assistant cashier. Otto Keefe has been made assistant cashier.

The Citizens' bank was established in March, 1923, with a capital of $25,000. Roy Purpus was active in organizing it. About three months ago the capital stock was increased to $50,000.

Cavin was at one time cashier of the Calumet Trust and Savings bank, Chicago, later holding the same position with the Live Stock State bank, Portland, Ore. He was at one time vice-president of the Stony Island State Savings bank, Chicago.

PERMITS FOR TWO RIGS ARE ISSUED AT H. B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 18.—Permits for two new oil rigs were issued yesterday at the office of the city engineer. Two new wells were placed on production here this week, according to oil field reports.

The California Petroleum corporation was issued a permit to erect a rig at the corner of Orange avenue and Sixteenth street and the Western Drilling and Producing company was granted a permit to construct a rig on Sixteenth street between Orange and Magnolia avenues.

Construction of the derricks will bring the total number of rigs in the town lot section to 344, it is reported by Merwin Rossin, city engineer. Of this number, 111 rigs are east of Seventeenth street. More than 50 companies are interested in the area between the main business section and Seventeenth street.

The World Petroleum corporation placed its No. 6 well on Fourteenth street, three blocks from the ocean, on production this week. The well, according to field reports, is making 800 barrels per day. The well is located at Fifteenth street and Walnut avenue and is reported to be flowing 740 barrels.

The new rig of the California Petroleum Corporation at Orange avenue and Sixteenth street is an offset well to the J. E. Hall, which came in recently at 500 barrels per day.

FIREMEN NAME W. J. CARMICHAEL

FULLERTON, Nov. 18.—W. J. Carmichael, city councilman, has been appointed district representative of the president of the California Firemen's association, it was announced today in Fullerton.

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 18.—Preliminary arrangements for the annual American Legion hi-jinks, to be staged in the Balboa pavilion, were being made today by Eugene Reber, general chairman of the committee. # NEWTON FIRM PLANT CLOSED AFTER MERGER

FULLERTON, Nov. 18.—As a result of the purchase of the Newton Process Manufacturing company by the Southwestern Engineering company, of Los Angeles, the plant here has been closed and may be moved from the city.

J. E. Kobornik, of Fullerton, manager of the local plant, has been at the main office in Los Angeles during the past few days and in the meantime operations at the local plant ceased.

It was said that duplication of equipment and the additional overhead of operating two plants in place of one are reasons why the two establishments may be combined.

Stockholders of the Newton Process company in the Fullerton district have received an offer of six shares of preferred stock of the Southwestern Engineering company at a par value of $25 for their holdings. This represents the "book value" of the Newton Process stock, it was said, but the actual value is declared to be more than $200. Several of the stockholders have transferred stock on this basis, while others are waiting developments.

Gillette, owners of bay front property on the Balboa peninsula near the entrance to Newport harbor, have launched a program to build up the bay front on their property.

Sparks and McClellan, contractors, are in charge of the work. A dredger which has been employed in the bay for the past several months is doing the work. A deep channel is to be dredged in front of the property and the bay bank is to be built up in a permanent manner.

The step is regarded as the first which will be taken by a number of wealthy property owners to improve the bay front.

The WOMAN'S DAY

By AILENE SUMNER

Twenty-one booms were fired from cannon in Brussels when Crown Princess Astrid, wife of Crown Prince Leopold of Belgium, gave birth to a daughter. There would have been 101 booms if the child had been a boy. Proving for once that boys are more expensive than girls, as well as generally more popular.

It often amazes me to hear even prospective mothers tell how they want a son. One expects it from fathers, but why the majority of mothers should feel this way is beyond me. It certainly disproves the psychoanalyst's contention that fathers prefer daughters, though it perhaps proves their point that mothers prefer sons.

FOLLY OF WOMEN

Mrs. John Blank was going about her morning's work when the bell rang. She opened the door to find a professional appearing agent who said he had been sent by her husband to give her a medical examination. He prescribed a hot bath before the examination. When Mrs. Blank emerged from the bath room she found a $1000 engagement ring and all the money she had in the house missing. The "doctor" was gone, too. She learned that all her neighbors had had their homes ransacked in the same way.

BETTER GET OUT

It seems almost preposterous to be asked to believe that women, even stay-at-home women who get over-confident, could be such fools. But story after story of the things they "fall for" makes one believe it. Better Business Commissions devote more than half their time to the problem of the credulous housekeeper. A real argument for women to get outside the home. They need it for their intelligence.

By SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Sliced pineapple, cereal, cream, oven toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—English monkey, stewed tomatoes, Dutch apple cake, milk, tea.

DINNER—Veal cutlets, creamed potatoes, squash croquettes, stuffed prune salad, cup cakes with butterscotch sauce, milk, coffee.

The veal cutlets are served in a tomato sauce which adds the necessary piquant touch to the dinner. The prunes are filled with a mixture of peanut butter and cream cheese and served on a generous bed of lettuce with a French dressing. The lettuce of any salad is as much a part of the salad as the special material and should be eaten.

Cup Cakes, Butterscotch Sauce
One cup granulated sugar, 1-3 cup butter, 1 egg, 1-2 cup sweet milk, 1-3 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, few grains salt.

Cream butter and beat in sugar. Beat until creamy and beat in 4 tablespoons sifted flour. Add eggs beaten until very light. Mix thoroughly and beat in milk. Mix and sift remaining flour with baking powder and salt and beat into first mixture. Add vanilla and beat smooth. Bake in individual cake pans or paper baking cups for 20 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve with the following sauce:

Butterscotch Sauce
One cup cream, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup medium corn syrup, 1-2 teaspoon butter, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

Mix cream, sugar and syrup, stirring until perfectly blended. Cook in double boiler over boiling water for one hour. Remove from heat and beat in butter and vanilla. Pour over the cup cakes and garnish each cake with a "dab" of whipped cream if convenient.

ington, D. C., have brought suit against a local beauty doctor for $260,000 in damages. Despite the over-dose of warning given women about beauty operations, they won't listen. The need for beauty is so great in women that they want to be fooled, until the fooling gets too disfiguring or painful.

RUTH'S LIPSTICK
Speaking of beauty, some of the many critics of the publicity given Ruth Elder's flight, scoff at the broadcasting of the news that she may let her hair grow, that she saved her lipstick when the plane went into the water, and that she wore a ribbon round her head. I heard no similar scoffing at dispatches telling how Lindy turned down his wine glass, how his forehead kept falling into his eyes, how his suit of clothes didn't fit him, and the exact color of the shirts he wore at each and any function.

S. A. Woman's Club

The delightful hospitality of Mrs. M. C. Williams, president of the Santa Ana Woman's club, was extended Tuesday afternoon to her sister clubwomen, whose final November meeting was held in her home at 719 Orange avenue.

Mrs. Charles Hoch's garden had yielded quantities of gay but-ton chrysanthemums, which were used effectively in tall baskets, while wreaths started with scarlet hibiscus blossoms, were eloquent of Mrs. Williams' summer in Hawaii.

After the routine opening directed by the president, Mrs. M. J. Marks gave a very interesting account of the district federation convention held recently in Palm Springs. The formal program was on Indian Welfare, and Mrs. C. S. Dunphy read an excellent paper on the theme, after which Mrs. J. V. Kelsey of Garden Grove was introduced as speaker.

Mrs. Kelsey is chairman of Indian welfare in the state federation, and is fully conversant with the subject. Her talk proved extremely entertaining and gave the clubwomen much to think about. She told of the great need of enfranchisement of the American Indians, and what a difference it would make in their educational equipment were they made citizens. She asked for the support of the Swing bill, and told of what enfranchisement would mean in every way to the tribes.

"During the World war," declared Mrs. Kelsey, "27,000 Indians were numbered among the American troops, and of these, 25,000 went overseas. So their patriotism is unquestioned, yet they have been denied citizenship."

After the talk, Mrs. E. C. Wilson read extracts from various government pamphlets relating to the subject, and Mrs. Howard O'Brien offered statistics pertaining to the race. Among these was the fact that there had been a slight increase in Indian population in the last 25 years. For the 1900 census showed 270,544, while that of 1925 showed 349,592.

During the social hour following the program, Mrs. Williams surprised her guests by serving refreshments with the assistance of her daughter, Mrs. Harvey Riggle, and the members of the refreshment committee, Mesdames Hoehn, H. D. Miles, George Klever and A. A. Schlasmann.

White Shrine

Miss Henrietta Bohling and Mrs. Wilford Lewis were hostesses Tuesday afternoon at Miss Bohling's home at 409 West Eighth street to members of the White Shrine circle, who met there for an afternoon of bridge and sewing.

At the end of the afternoon, bridge scores were tallied and it was found that Mrs. Elton Roehm had scored high with Mrs. George Prather, second. Each received an attractive gift. Mrs. E. M. Redmond received a prize for sewing.

Refreshments were served at the card tables, where chrysanthemums had been used to advantage in decorating.

Beauty Chats

BY EDNA KENT FORBES

The results gained by Mrs. M.—after much experimenting with diet, I am passing along to any of the readers that may be in a similar position. Several years ago she had an attack of diabetes when the doctor put her on a diet in which all starch and sugar were omitted. She found that she disliked all foods except those that were forbidden. In a very short time she had dropped from 160 pounds to 135 pounds and much of her strength had gone also; however, she recovered and went on again with the old diet and regained the lost weight. Several other attacks followed in which she found she had to learn more about what foods would keep her nourished and supply the energy that she lost every time she thinned down the diet.

Starch and sugar she has definitely settled must never be included in her diet, and this after she had always made them her first choice. It was not easy, but she again built up her weight to normal, through taking more fats and her energy now is quite equal to that of the days when her health was perfect. She has done this mostly by including in her diet liberal amounts of butter, cheese, cream, and some fat with steaks or chops, and all other kinds of meat.

It is interesting to note too, that this woman's skin has cleared and become much more youthful than it has been for many years.

G. O. P.—Mrs. E. G.—Smooth out the lines in your forehead as if ironing them out with your finger tips, while all the time you are feeding the tissues with a nourishing cream—much the same as if you were massaging it into the pores. You should not have lines at 27 years of age, and it shows that you must have a bad habit of frowning; but the habit may come from some trouble with your eyes. In any case, the lines will not disappear unless you stop making them.

And then the bunch heard Carpy shout, "Hey, Clowny, you had best look out. A bird is circling over your head. He has a monstrous bill. It looks like it is sharp and strong. I'll bet he doesn't like your song."

But Clowny sang with all his might, and then the bird flew out of sight. Then Clowny laughed and said, "That was a foolish thing to say." Then Carpy answered, "No siree. In fact it really seems to me your singing was the thing that really scared the bird away."

A thrill then came to all the crowd. The ladder drifted through a cloud, and my, but it was misty—just as misty as could be. It scared the Tinsies for a spell. Then out they came, and all was well. Just then the ladder seemed to stop. The Tinsies wondered if they'd drop. Said Scouty, "Why we don't move on I cannot understand." Then Clowny shouted, "Goodness me. You ought to see what I can see. WEDDINGS
FASHIONS
HOUSEHOLDANNUAL SHRINE CHARITY BALL
IS GALA EVENT AT ST. ANN'S INN

It has come and gone—the long anticipated evening when Orange County Shrine club members greet their friends at the outstanding social event of the year, the annual Christmas Charity ball, whose sequel will come on Christmas day, with the arrival of Santa Claus in countless homes where he will not be expected. The ball which will assure Christmas cheer in otherwise cheerless homes, was held last night in St. Ann's Inn, where the genial wearers of the scarlet fez, greeted hundreds of their friends, and all joined in a happy evening of dancing.

Dancing began at 8:30 o'clock, with Fred Chapman's orchestra occupying a platform in the center of the north wall of the big Inn ballroom. The orchestra consisted of nine pieces, and everyone was enthusiastic about the quality of the music, declaring that the program has seldom been equaled and never surpassed.

The players were generous with their encores, and never more so than in the cymbal numbers, which proved to be the most popular of the evening. In these, the eagle eyes of Carl Mock, and other dignitaries of the Shrine club, quickly spied those who refused to change partners at the clash of the cymbals, and the fines thus collected, helped swell the fund for Christmas buying.

Animated Scene
The ballroom was decorated with many banners and emblems of the Shrine, but most brilliant of all, were the countless handsome gowns worn by the woman guests. Pale green, shell pink, apricot, orchid, deep rose, and every lovely evening color, made the ballroom blossom like a flower garden, to which the countless red fezzes of the Shrine club hosts, added their brilliant touch of color.

It was estimated that over 200 couples were dancing throughout the evening, while in the foyer were a score of card tables where the more sedately inclined, enjoyed their favorite game. Nobles Thomas Haster and Carl Mock had charge of the card tables, where success was achieved by Mrs. Arthur Pease and W. V. Whitson. Mrs. Pease received a handsome console set in tinted glass, and Mr. Whitson, a smoking set. Consolation of a small smoking stand was presented George Goodwin.

Grand March
The ball opened formally with the grand march led by Noble J. O. Pyle, president of the Orange County Shrine club, and Mrs. Pyle, and with all the guests falling into line for the spirited convolutions of the march.

In addition to Mr. Pyle, the Nobles who have served the county organization as president, were present with the exception of D. Eymann Huff, first president. They were Charles Cogan and Joseph P. Smith, who with Mrs. Cogan and Mrs. Smith, were foremost in the grand march.

Prominent Masons
Others prominent in Shrine, Masonic and Eastern Star activities helped swell the crowd, although it was by no means solely Masonic, as the Charity ball is known and enjoyed by everyone no matter what their lodge affiliations. Mr. and Mrs. H. W. McCullough of 2122 North Main street, their sister, Miss Julia Jacobs, and Mrs. Clyde Bishop are planning to go to Phoenix at the end of the week, where Miss Jacobs will spend some time on a "dude ranch" near that city.

Fred English of West Seventeenth street, who was operated upon Wednesday morning at Santa Ana Valley hospital, was reported today as doing nicely and on the road to recovery.

Dr. M. A. Patton and his son, Murray Patton, 1603 French street and Mr. and Mrs. James Harding and son, Bruce, 1427 Bush street, left today for Palo Alto, where they will attend the football game between Stanford university and the University of California.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Miller, of 805 South Birch street and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Carden of 721 South Ross street left for Palo Alto yesterday. They made the trip by automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Householder, of 1468 Maple street, plan to attend the Occidental-Pomona football game at Pomona Saturday, and remain in that city for the week-end.

Mrs. Mary Robertson and her daughter, Miss Mabel Robertson, of 1317 North Main street left today for Upland where they will spend the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McCarthy.

Miss Helen McPeak of 216 Orange avenue plans to spend the week-end in Pomona where she will attend the Pomona-Occidental football game.

Horace Snow of 1515 Spurgeon street left for Palo Alto where he will attend the "big game."

Miss Grace Robertson of 1317 North Main street and Miss Frances Egge of 1330 Bush street left today for Pomona where they will spend the week-end. While there they will attend the Pomona-Occidental football game.

Several members of the Wrycende Maedenu club plan to spend the week-end at Emma Otis cabin at Modjeska's.

Mr. and Mrs. V. E. McCullum have left for Palo Alto where they will see the "big game."

Mr. and Mrs. Don H. Lebo of 521 East First street have left for the north to see the Stanford-California football game.

Mrs. F. W. Howard of 523 Baker street, presided at a charmingly appointed bridge on Wednesday, the players pausing in the game to enjoy tea at 4:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Lieberman were recent dinner hosts, and Mrs. Lieberman planned an inviting setting of golden yellow for their guests. A long narrow basket of fluffy chrysanthemums centered the long table, with the color repeated in nut cups and place cards. The latter did service later for bridge tables.

Mrs. Hushman, of Anaheim, entertaining a dozen friends yesterday, offered them a delectable baked ham dinner after they were seated at tables gay with button-mums. After the dinner so reminiscent of Dixieland, the guests enjoyed bridge.

A number of equally pleasant affairs are scheduled for the immediate future at the pretty tea room.

Tustin Teachers
Greeted in Utt Home

At the annual social meeting and reception to teachers of the Tustin school, held Tuesday night by the Tustin W. C. T. U., the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Utt on Lemon Heights presented a scene of brilliant beauty as a setting for the party of some 90 guests.

Twinkling lights of the towns in the valley, afforded a fascinating scene from the winding roadway up the hill, and from the spacious Spanish home which crowns the summit, offering its hospitality to the teachers and their friends.

The program opened with the singing of America followed by prayer from the Rev. S. F. Shifler. Miss Vera Smith sang, accompanied by Mrs. R. E. Carswell and Mrs. Margaret Utt offered the address of welcome.

Interesting talks were made by C. A. Wise of the grammar school, and J. W. Means of the high school, after which Mrs. Jessie Rawlings Johnson sang to the piano accompaniment of Mrs. Carswell. A whistling solo by Mrs. Alta Kenyon Stanley, and a reading by Miss Norma Tantling, were other features of the program, and the principal speaker of the evening was Dr. M. Len Hutchins of Los Angeles.

Dr. Hutchins is national director of Medical temperance in the W. C. T. U. and has been president of the Los Angeles Union, the largest in the world. Also she has traveled abroad and aided in the organization of unions in foreign countries. Her talk was extremely interesting and placed the final touch on the evening's enjoyment.

The remainder of the evening was spent in a friendly mingling of guests, in enjoying the view from the beautiful home, and in partaking of brick ice cream, white and chocolate cake.

Parent-Teachers

Franklin

The November meeting of the Franklin P. T. A. was held in the kindergarten room Tuesday afternoon.

A most interesting demonstration of modern writing methods was given by the fourth grade pupils under the direction of Miss Cleo Allen.

The study circles were conducted by Miss Jessie Scott on "School Law" and by Mrs. Neighbour on "Pre-School Work."

A patriotic program followed with a November playlet by Miss Froeschle's pupils; cornet duet, Luther Rimel and Dale Heinley, and reading by Oliver Stewart.

More than 50 members of Jefferson P. T. A. listened to a very interesting address by C. W. Rowland on the subject of gold-leaf, yesterday afternoon. Mr. Rowland traced the processes of beating the gold into sheets, a process which has undergone no material change since the beginning of history. Of the 93 factories for making gold leaf in the United States, two of them are located in Orange county, and through California mines yield generously of the alluring ever-desired nuggets, although dependent on the rest of the world for materials necessary to manufacture the thin sheets ready for market.

This address was followed by the regular business with Mrs. Franck presiding. Some of the principle features were the endorsing and signing of the petition to county board to install a maternity and child welfare department in the county hospital; to sponsor the annual school fair and dinner, which will be held at the school on evening of December 15, with service and hospitality committees and grade mothers in charge; and aid in purchasing more books for the school library.

The first reading of the revised constitution and by-laws was given by Mrs. Tutill, chairman of a committee named for revision. Mrs. Roland Dye announced that a mothers club had been formed with Mrs. W. A. Atkinson as leader, to make a study of the child, using Angelo Patri's "Problems of Childhood" as a guide.

The 4 B grade secured the flag for the next two months as prize for having the largest number of mothers present.

AT THE THEATERS

A scene from "The Gay Rerest," current attraction at the Yost Broadway theater.

Esther Ralston, now to be seen on the screen at the West Coast-Walker theater.

they are marked A. W. O. L. and that is the beginning of their troubles.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Jealousy may be a powerful weapon but it's also a dangerous one. Juliet Wells finds in her eventful career as a private secretary. Janet is private secretary to "Howdy" Jones in the picture "Figures Don't Lie," at the West Coast-Walker theater and however beautiful she may have been in the mind of B. F. Zeldman, creator of the original story, the casting director went him one better when he gave the starring role to Esther Ralston.

As a private secretary Esther Ralston is a riot. She is beautiful and she is not dumb. In fact she's the brains of the organization for which she works.

In spite of that brain power, however, she will play with jealousy and in so doing almost gets herself shot. She almost gets drowned when the jealousy game acts as a boomerang and she has had her share of suffering from it.

An absent minded business man who has a wife with a long memory and a sharp tongue, a dashing young sales manager, and a stenographer who is more of a vampire than a typist, figure in the incidents that keep the private secretary, and incidentally the audience, in a constant state of excitement!

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

Those two irrepressible funmakers, Ted McNamara and Sammy Cohen, who won fame with their characterizations of the two marines in "What Price Glory," score again as laugh producers, this time in "The Gay Retreat," which had its local premiere at the Yost Broadway theater yesterday afternoon.

This delightful entertainment is not only a happy, rollicking take-off on the war but contains in addition thrills in plentiful measure, a double barreled romance and a story that is logical and motivated to the smallest details. The story deals with a sleepwalking son of a millionaire who enlists in the ambulance corps and his two self appointed body guards, who enlist with him. The boy leaves his sweetheart Red Cross nurse in his father's care and goes to France with his guardians in the wrong outfit.

Francisco some years ago, he was a close friend of Harry Scott, famous newspaper reporter who solved the Durant murder case and other mysteries. Lytell often worked with Scott on his assignments.

In "Alias the Lone Wolf," the latest of the Louis Joseph Vance "Lone Wolf" tales, Lytell makes use of this knowledge, as he did in "The Lone Wolf," the first of these stories, then later in "The Lone Wolf Returns."

Lytell scored such a success in the first two Vance tales that Columbia officials regarded him as the only logical star for the third "Lone Wolf" story.

THE MAKING OF A NEWSPAPER

SKETCHES BY BESSEY

SYNOPSIS BY BRAUCHER

The story of the modern newspaper with its photo-engraving, linotypes and high-speed presses would not be complete without a chapter about the pioneers. Before the fifteenth century there were few books in Europe and these written by hand, mostly the works of the Greek and Roman writers and monks.

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-26.

Before this time men had known how to print from drawings out into blocks of wood, such as is shown above, but they had no type.

When Gutenberg was about ten years old a quarrel arose between the rich and poor classes of Mainz, and Gutenberg's parents, who were wealthy, were forced to flee. They settled in Strassburg, where the inventor of printing grew up. His first business venture was as a polisher of stones and maker of mirrors.

Sketches and Synopsis, Copyright, 1927, The Griller Society. (To Be Continued)

The need for some invention to give people books was very urgent when John Gutenberg was born in Mainz, Germany, about 1400.

MEXICO STREETS PAVED WITH GOLD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Guadalajara, Mexico's second city, has streets paved with gold. Refuse from an old gold mine was mixed with the paving asphalt. Later it was discovered that these despised scrappings contained precious yellow metal and that $6000 worth had been used in laying streets. Thus the ancient romance of this plateau city was brought up to date.

Guadalajara has a population of 150,000 and is capital of the rich state of Jalisco. The city's name means "rocky river," a Moorish appellation which the National Geographic society traces to another town in old Spain. The Mexican city, lying at an elevation of over 5000 feet above sea level, is one of the healthiest, cleanest and pleasantest provincial capitals in the land.

Saved from tropical heat by its elevation, Guadalajara has sufficiently warm a climate for its houses to be chimneyless and built in hollow squares around open patios. Trees are always green, flowers bloom in profusion the year round, and birds from as far north as Canada and Alaska migrate thither for the winter months.

Life in Guadalajara centers around numerous open squares, chief among which is the Plaza

Mayor, where the band plays after dinner in the evenings to a gay audience of promenaders. On Sunday nights a line of benches separates the space occupied by the elite from the pawns, or common people.

Here also after church on Sunday drive the beautiful señoritas with their chaperons, to the delight of admirers in other conveyances or on foot. Guadalajara is noted for its beautiful girls, many of whom have brown or blond hair. This accounted for by their reputed descent from the ancient aristocracy of Spain, whose blood has been kept pure in the new country.

When a Guadalajara beau picks the señorita of his choice he follows her home and "plays the bear" in front of her window balcony. This means he walks up and down the sidewalk at a certain hour every day until he attracts her attention. In due time if the lady is pleased she may ask him to call, the entire family being present on the occasion. Foreigners unused to the custom are said to find the Mexican mode of courtship a difficult matter.

Facing the Plaza Mayor is the elaborate facade of a 16th century cathedral which contains one of the city treasures, an original Murillo version of the Conception. The painting was presented during the campaigns of Napoleon by Charles IV of Spain in gratitude for support from the cathedral chapter. Napoleon III tried in vain to purchase it, and many attempts have been made to steal the painting. Guadalajara is outstanding among Mexican cities for having few beggars and fewer shops for selling the native cactus beer. The cactus plant from which the beer is made will not grow in the state of Jalisco and beer itself does not bear shipping for long distance.

Cudahy's Puritan Bacon

"First in the land"

Distinguished for Finer Flavor

For any meal there is nothing so tempting and delicious as Cudahy's Puritan Bacon—nothing which adds so much to the flavor of other dishes.

The finer flavor for which Puritan Bacon is so distinguished is due to the Special Cudahy Method of preparing selected young meats.

This method diffuses the meat's rich juices in a natural way, without forcing or hurrying.

Puritan is therefore superbly mild, sweet, tender and appetizing in any serving.

Puritan Bacon—sliced—is packed in modern, sanitary, transparent, protecting wrappers in 1-lb. and ½-lb. parcels and put up in special dealer display cartons. Puritan is also sold sliced in individual cartons or by the piece. At your dealer's. "The Taste Tells."

SNAKE IGNORANCE COST $220,000,000

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 18.—For the edification of those innocent snake fight fans who prove Barnum was right, Cary Jones, known in circus circles as the man who knows most about snakes, begs to say:

1. "Most of the stories about fierce snake fights are pure bunk.

2. "After years watching snakes, I can truthfully say they like to live in perfect harmony; this regardless of their species.

3. "There are only two kinds of cannibal snakes in America, the king snake and blue gopher, and the only time they will try to eat others is when they are starved."

Jones is known as "Snake Old" among the men who know snakes. He has watched the writhing creatures summer and winter and knows when they are sick or well by the color of their eyes.

"A snake fight," Jones explained, "is either a promotion stunt or a bald joke. I have handled snakes 35 years and know."

Ignorance about snakes costs the country about $220,000,000 a year, Jones estimates. Farmers who kill non-poisonous kinds are losing their best friends.

"These snakes live on rodents and other pests that destroy crops. They should be protected by law," he said.

"There are for that matter only five kinds of poisonous snakes in this country. They are the rattler, viper, adder, copperhead and cottonmouth. They have no redeeming traits."

"It is easy to tell the poisonous from the non-poisonous. The dangerous kind has an unlimited number of scales on his head and two sets of nostrils."

During an attack of bronchial pneumonia, the heart of an Australian baby stopped beating eight times. Massage was successfully applied by doctors and the child lived.

What gave Hills Bros Coffee its reputation? Flavor through Controlled Roasting

HILLS BROS. give the West far more than a fine blend of coffees. Far more than the vacuum pack which maintains the original freshness. It's a matchless, uniform flavor that Hills Bros. give, such as you won't find in any other coffee.

By roasting coffee a few pounds at a time, instead of in bulk, a richer, smoother, rarer flavor is produced. You inhale the ravishing aroma produced by this exclusive process as you open the vacuum tin. And when you make a cup, every sip is completely satisfying to your taste. The joy of coffee-drinking is magnified when you drink Hills Bros.

Ask for Hills Bros. by name and look for the Arab on the can. Then you'll get the genuine Hills Bros. and not a coffee claimed to be "just as good." Mail the coupon now for a free copy of "The Art of Entertaining." It tells how to make a perfect cup of coffee.

Hills Bros. roast their coffee as a good cook makes frosting.

By pouring the hot syrup on the egg whites a little at a time, she beats the mass to a smooth consistency. By roasting coffee a few pounds at a time, Hills Bros. have constant control and produce a rich uniform flavor.

S. A. SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA TO GET LIONS AID

Sponsoring the free concert to be given by the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra at the high school auditorium on the evening of December 15, the Santa Ana Lions club today launched a letter campaign to enlist the aid of music lovers of Santa Ana and vicinity in maintenance of the winter concerts by the orchestra.

The club committee handling the project is composed of C. S. Crookshank, chairman; W. K. Hillyard, W. S. Spicer, G. K. Rogers, the Rev. J. H. Hughes and E. M. Sundquist. The committee had evolved the plan of selling 100 or 150 memberships in the Santa Ana Philharmonic Society at $10 or more each, depending on what an individual might wish to contribute. Two tickets for each program will be given to each member, with the tickets entitling the holder to reserved seats.

The concerts will be free to the public, and members will have only the advantage of reserved seats, and the satisfaction of knowing that they are contributing to an organization for the advancement of music in this city. In a letter mailed today to men and women who may be interested in becoming members of the society, the committee says:

"Recently reorganized under the present name of Santa Ana Philharmonic society, with plans now effected whereby the present orchestra will be augmented to 65 members, the society will be enabled to offer concerts as near as possible similar to those presented by the well-known Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra. The first program, to be sponsored by the local Lions' club, will feature a soloist of national reputation, who will be heartily welcomed by music-lovers.

"Anticipating an even more successful concert series than ever before, with high-class symphonic programs to be presented free to the public at frequent intervals during the winter, the society offers honorary membership in this organization, in return for financial encouragement of interested friends.

"Such support will be used merely to defray expenses incurred by the organization, that its existence, now threatened by lack of funds, may be maintained and fostered for the good of the entire community.

"It is the sincere ideal and aim of the society to so encourage and stimulate development of musical talent and appreciation inherent in our community's youth, that the training thus received may tend to strengthen the desire for that music which is permanent, truly satisfying, and worth-while in every way."

POPE WILL NAME CARDINALS SOON

ROME, Nov. 18.—Pope Pius, in speaking to Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, has expressed his intention of holding a consistory in December which will have special importance.

His holiness, at that meeting of the supreme senate of the Roman Catholic church, will announce the resignation of Cardinal Billot from the Sacred college, deliver an important allocution on the policy followed by the holy see in condemning the action Francaise, and, according to trustworthy Vatican reports, will create several new cardinals, including some non-Italians.

The guessing has already begun as to the heads on which the red hats will be bestowed. His grace, Archbishop Edward J. Hanna of San Francisco, is again mentioned for the honor. It is believed, however, that although the pope would like to include the distinguished prelate, he will not do so, as America is already represented in the Sacred college by four cardinals.

The name of Monsignor Fumasoni-Biondi, apostolic delegate to Washington, is also mentioned, as on December 14 he will have served five years in the United States. Some remark, however, that other apostolic delegates have been in Washington as long as eleven years before receiving the red hat.

Huge Waterfowl Gain Is Recorded

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Harvey C. Oberholser, head biologist of the biological survey of the department of agriculture, estimates that the water fowl population of the United States, Southern Canada, Alaska and Mexico has increased to 100,000,000 ducks and geese.

Dr. Oberholser has charge of the monthly census of water fowl in these regions. He has established 700 observation stations. The first census was taken August 30.

"Pin-money," as the name of a wife's allowance, dates back to the reign of Charles I. This monarch received 500 pounds a year from pin-makers and handed this sum over to his queen for her private purse.

Chimney Yields Ancient Papers

FAYETTE, Mo., Nov. 18.—Mrs. J. C. Briggs has some interesting century-old papers found recently by workmen wrecking the old Rich property.

The papers were found in the chimney in a back room of the house. A cavity was discovered and the workmen found bills of lading, receipts, newspaper clippings and two or three account books dating from 1806 to 1846.

David Kyle is the name signed to most of the papers, but there is no word of any one of that name owning the house. Kyle was evidently prominent locally as a shipper, as many of the receipts are for large amounts. Much of the merchandise, judging from the papers, was shipped from New Orleans and Richmond, Va.

Many of the orders are for consignments of merchandise from Richmond "on the next stage." All of the bills include "dockage" in the cost of transportation.

One of the interesting receipts is the following:

"Received of David Kyle $150 in full for his crossing the Danville Toll Bridge (at a gait not faster than a walk at his risk) until the 25th day of December next (overseers, wagoners and carts excepted), July 7, 1826."

A newspaper clipping included in the papers carried an account of the death of Mrs. Letitia Tyler, wife of President Tyler, who "died at the White House Saturday."

A firm of bakers in Chester, England, has begun treating its bread with ultra-violet rays. It claims that bread thus treated contains a high quantity of Vitamin D, enough to justify the process.

Lesson No. 5

Question: Why should school children receive emulsified cod-liver oil?

Answer: Because the strain of the study-period and playground uses up energy, and emulsified cod-liver oil not only provides energy but also protects with its vitamins.

AUDITOR AND RECORDER IN FRIENDLY SUIT

In an attempt to get a Superior court interpretation on the county government law passed in 1925, Justine Whitney, county recorder, and W. C. Jerome, county auditor, are today parties in a friendly suit over the payment of fees for recording names of marriage license applicants.

The recorder is the plaintiff and the auditor is the defendant. The complaint states that he has refused to pay $743 to Miss Whitney for the recording of licenses although the state registrar is said to have filed a certification of the fees to which she is entitled.

She asks that the court issue a peremptory writ of mandate ordering the issuing of a warrant. An alternative writ has been obtained and the auditor is instructed to appear November 16 to show cause why he should not pay the demand.

Jemore pointed out that he believes the county government act provides that the salaries of officials collecting fees are made their sole remuneration and that the fees remain with the county. He obtained the opinion of District Attorney Z. B. West before refusing the warrant, he said.

Miss Whitney holds that the fees still are payable to the recorder. The case will be watched with interest inasmuch as an important interpretation of the law probably will result when the decision is handed down.

DISTRICT BAPTISTS GATHER IN ANAHEIM

Baptists from all parts of the district gathered in Anaheim yesterday for the opening of the annual meeting of the Santa Ana Valley Baptist association. The morning was devoted to devotional services and sermons by visiting pastors, with a school of evangelism in the afternoon.

Two dinners, one for men and one for women, were held at the Anaheim Baptist church last evening at 5:30 p. m.

U. S. EXPERTS IMPROVE ANTI AIRCRAFT GUNS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Defense from the ground against attack from the air, recognized ever since the World war as one of the most difficult of all military problems, has made great strides forward during recent months. New weapons and fire control instruments developed by the ordnance corps of the army and now undergoing tests at the proving grounds at Aberdeen, Md., go far toward taking the soldier on foot out of the class of a mere helpless target for bombs and "strafing" machine gun fire from planes, to which he has been assigned by popular conceptions.

The most striking of the new means of defense is not in itself a new weapon, but a means of making more effective use of already existing weapons. This is the new electrical fire control instrument for anti-aircraft guns, which enables the commander of a battery to sight all four of his guns simultaneously, and also to set the fuses for all the shells.

Errors Were Made

These important details have hitherto been attended to separately for each gun, with the result that errors both in direction of fire and in position of the shell at the moment of burst have crept in, seriously lowering the effectiveness of the fire. The new system makes it possible for a battery of four three-inch guns to deliver a 15-pound shell every half second, to a height of 10,000 yards, with a horizontal range of 15,000 yards.

The same control system has been applied to the new 105-millimeter, or 4.1 inch guns, which fire only half as fast, but throw a shell more than twice as heavy to a height of 12,000 yards and an extreme horizontal range of 19,000 yards.

These two weapons commonly use shrapnel, which is timed to burst short of the target and throw toward it a shower of hardened lead alloy balls, shotgun fashion. A smaller-caliber gun, however, is designed to attack planes with a high-explosive shell that bursts on contact with even so slight an obstacle as the fabric of wing or fuselage. This is the 37-millimeter automatic, which throws a missile weighing about one pound.

The piece is built like a machine gun and barks once every second, so that a battery of four would send up a hail of 240 highly destructive shells in a minute. The new centralized fire control system can be applied to this gun as well, though this has not yet been done.

A third promising weapon is the new .50-caliber Browning machine gun, which throws a cigar-shaped bullet half an inch in diameter and weighing about two ounces. A newly developed mount permits four of these guns to be trained on a single pivot. Since each gun can deliver more than 300 shots per minute, this arrangement places a stream of twenty missiles a second under the control of one gunner.

Further Improvement Ordnance officers do not expect to drive planes completely from the air, even with the further improvements still in prospect. Part of the anti-aircraft defense still will have to be undertaken by planes attached to the defense forces, just as the protection of coasts is a joint task for the coast defense artillery and the fleet. But just as the coast defense artillery usually is able, by the mere threat of its presence, to keep an enemy fleet at long distance, so the anti-aircraft weapons are expected to force enemy planes and dirigibles to fly at such heights that the bomb-dropping, observing, photographing and other activities will be relatively ineffective.

No dessert? What a disappointment for the little folks—the grown-ups, too—if you leave out this happy ending to a meal.

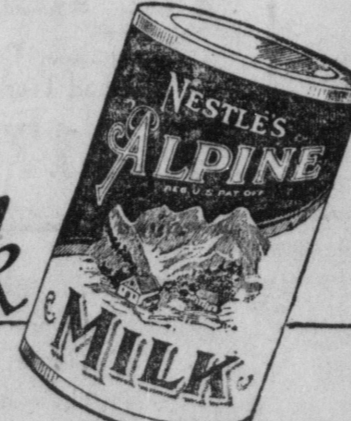

Give them desserts that are wholesome as well as delicious—puddings, custards and other dainties that call for plenty of milk. And use Alpine in your recipes—for richer flavor, for smoother, creamier consistency.

Alpine is pure, full-cream milk, made doubly rich by removing half the water, then homogenized so that every drop is sure to get an equal share of this double supply of cream.

You'll find that Alpine's creamy richness improves all cooking—adds new flavor and goodness to coffee. And it's so economical—so convenient. Costs less than ordinary milk—saves butter in cooking—keeps pure and sweet indefinitely in its sterilized, airtight container. Get Alpine today.

OLD CIVILIZATION TRACE DISCOVERED

LONDON, Nov. 18.—While an expedition from the Museum of Natural History is digging out the well preserved ruins of a prehistoric American civilization, British relic hunters, according to reports, are unearthing potteries supposed to be even more ancient. The Britons set out to find what they could on the site of a Roman citadel at Castle Hill, Scarborough, England, and they came upon fragments of an occupation that must have been centuries earlier. Experts of the British museum declare the discoveries not only antedate history, but that they probably represent the crude art beginnings of the Celtic race on British soil.

The pottery fragments were uncovered in pits under the walls of a fourth century Roman building. Probably the Romans knew nothing of them, the experts say, for they had been filled in and forgotten centuries before the Roman period. Reginald A. Smith,

British museum researcher, traces them to an earlier period of the iron age than has heretofore been recognized. He suggests that they mark the time of invasion from the continent of Europe of a people who subdued the bronze age natives and then amalgamated the two arts.

Evidence of merger is furnished in many of the objects now salvaged. A large household bowl, for example, bears two bands of decoration, one of them made by pressing the finger tips on applied clay, in a style characteristic of the bronze age, and the other showing finger marks on the shoulder of the bowl of the style of the early iron age. Another form of decoration belongs to what is known as Hallstatt pottery of the first half of the early iron age, which may be dated roughly from 800 to 400 B. C. Smith thinks this was probably the work of the first Celts to reach Britain from the continent.

Dog, Buried For 10 Days, Alive

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 18.—Exhaustive searching in the ruins of a rooming house at 4201 Maryland avenue for the body of a man believed to have been buried when the house was wrecked by the tornado, uncovered a dog yesterday, alive and unharmed in spite of 10 days' imprisonment under tons of debris.

In response to persistent rumors that a man had been buried in the wrecked house, firemen went to work and removed the wreckage piece by piece. They stopped work for the night and returned early next morning. In the afternoon they found the dog under a kitchen sink that had fallen into the basement.

The firemen carefully lifted the dog out and gave the animal to relatives of his owner, Zelma Cinar, known as "Big Si," who roomed at the house and was at work when the tornado struck. Weak and thin from lack of food, the German police dog answered to the name "Mitch" and wagged her tail freely.

Samoan Islands Get Real Lights

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Modern lighthouses have been installed at last in one of the most outlying possessions of the United States, the Samoan Islands, in the South seas.

Until recently kerosene burning lights of a type long since relegated to museum display were the only beacons available for the few ships which visited the Samoan waters. Now, however, the occasional visitors have the advantage of modern safeguards in the form of automatic devices which have replaced the old lamps.

One of the difficulties of installing the new lights was the task of building towers to carry them. Metal corrodes with such rapidity in the South seas that ordinary towers would soon be useless, and concrete was too expensive. To overcome this condition wooden towers had to be built in Honolulu and transported to the desired locations.

$5000 DAMAGE SUIT CASE IS AGAIN PUT OFF

William Pickering, of Anaheim, is today recovering from the burden of being the star witness in a $5000 damage suit heard by Superior Judge James L. Allen yesterday. Pickering was attempting to polish off his title to a five-acre ranch at Stanton by getting the court to rid it of an attachment levied by Russell Evans, of Fullerton. A decision was not reached and the case was continued to November 28.

Evans attached the land last March after receiving an assignment of a $1250 judgment gained by O. J. Linnartz, against D. R. McDonald, son-in-law of Pickering. The judgment was based on an indebtedness created by McDonald in connection with his operation of a gravel pit on the Pickering ranch. The attachment was therefore levied against the land.

The reason for the suit is the allegation that McDonald did not own the property at the time of the attachment. Cross examination of the witness by Leonard Evans, representing the defendant, Pickering declared that he had nothing to do with the business of McDonald. In fact his testimony was to the effect that he never saw him except when McDonald was attempting to get a loan.

"He never even paid the interest," Pickering declared, and said that all that was left him after the gravel operations were completed, was a hole in the ground.

The defense tried to show that McDonald had assigned the land to Pickering in 1924 in order to escape the execution of the attachment. The defense attorney made a motion for non-suit, which was denied.

Americans Ignore Ruling On Bridge

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Decision of London and provincial bridge clubs to retain "value calling" in the new bridge rules will have no effect on the rules of play in America, officials of the New York Whist club said today. In America, it was explained, "majority calling" is used in preference to "value calling." The latter, for example, provides that three hearts, counting 24 points, would beat four clubs, counting the same number of points, because hearts is a higher suit than clubs. In "majority calling" the four clubs would beat the three hearts because of the greater number of tricks.

Floating Island Dragged To Shore

FRANKLIN, N. H., Nov. 18.—The floating island which was something of a menace to the Franklin Light and Power company dam at North Sanbornton recently, has been removed. The island, about an acre in area, became detached from the mainland some distance above the dam and floated down to the spillway. Workmen who removed the obstruction had never handled such a contract before and it proved quite a problem. Hooks with cables attached were inserted into the solid surface of the island and the obstruction was pulled away in parts from the main obstruction and dragged onto a distant shore where they now have become a part of the scenery.

It is said other sections of ground seem to be separating from their former locations and are expected to be soon floating down toward the dam. The dam, which was built last year, has formed a pond covering more than four square miles. A lot of woodland has been submerged and the specific gravity of much surface of ground is declared to be light and capable of floating when it becomes detached from strata of gravel under it.

FORESTS TOPIC OF DISCUSSION BEFORE LIONS

Discussion on the subject of "Relation of Watersheds to Permanency of Community," by Woodbridge, Metcalf, state extension forester of the state university, and a program of songs by Tom Murray, director of entertainment programs at the Santa Ana Country club, were features of the meeting yesterday of the Santa Ana Lions club. Burr Shafer, vice president, had charge of the meeting and C. H. Van Antwerp was program chairman. Metcalf touched upon various phases of coverage for mountains for conservation of rain water, and stressed the value of such areas to the communities adjacent.

Pointing to the value of forests from a timber standpoint, the speaker stressed their value as recreation grounds, and declared that the people of Southern California had great foresight when they had national parks created in Southern California mountains during the administration of the late President Roosevelt. He asserted that these areas now are returning more revenue from recreation uses than from grazing, the latter having heretofore been the greater revenue producer. Metcalf is here to accompany the caravan of the Orange county farm bureau on its tour of forests tomorrow, and impressed his interest in Orange county forestry problems by relating that he had come south and would be here on the day when the great football game would be played between Stanford and the state university. Accompanying himself on his ukulele, Murray regaled the Cubs with a number of snappy songs, and his efforts at entertainment were highly appreciated, as evidenced by the applause given him.

Dr. G. A. Ross was announced as successor to Fred Merker on the board of directors, Merker having recently gone to Ventura to accept the position of district manager there for the Southern Counties Gas company.

Jack hoped to catch an express that would take him to Midhaven, twenty miles from Rocklake; but the train was pulling out as he reached the station, with Dynamite already in a latrine. A boy, about Jack's age, was mounting a motorcycle. "What'll you take, cash, for that machine?" asked Lockwell. "Won't sell," was the answer, "but I'll trade for your pony."

For Jack to part with his pony was like losing an eye, but he was desperate. "Good-by, Dynamite, old pal!" he said chokingly. He mounted the motorcycle.

EL PASO, Nov. 18.—After having been reared as a Mexican in the home of Manuel Gomez Chavez, a Mexican millionaire mining man of Parral, Harold John McKibben has left here for Los Angeles in search of his father, whom he has not seen since he was four years of age and of whom he has no remembrance.

Upon becoming of age McKibben or Juan Gomez as he has been known since a child, was informed by his supposed father that he was of American parentage and that he had been adopted by the Mexican millionaire in El Paso in 1907 after having been abandoned in an apartment house here by his father. As soon as he was shown the adoption papers, signed by Judge A. S. Sylar of the probate court here, young McKibben left Parral for the border on the first train, found a number of persons who knew his father and finally located a picture of his father and one of himself as a beautiful little boy in a Buster Brown suit and white collar.

"Intuition tells me that my father is in Los Angeles, and I am going there on this, what do you call it—hunch—that he is there. I have a picture of him and, while I could not know him otherwise, I am sure I can locate him in the California city. Something tells

He had difficulty in speaking English when he first came to the border, but quickly learned it, as he said he had always had a feeling that he could speak the language if given an opportunity, although he has forgotten the English words he learned as a small boy.

Master's Head

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 8.—The boy's dog, bringing his master's body into a little Putnam county town, has started a trail of investigation which the authorities think may lead to moonshiners who murdered the lad in fear that he knew too much of their operations.

Oscar Racer, 14, who lived with his grandparents at Scott depot, had been missing since he started out almost a month ago, and his searchers have not been able to trace of him until the reveal was made.

The searchers, who were accompanied by the boy on his hunting expedition, came into town bringing the lad's head. Renewed search revealed the body near a farm not far from the town.

Coroner J. W. Miller and Deputy Sheriff Walter S. Raynes, who are conducting the investigation, reported today to H. A. Barnhart, prosecuting attorney.

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

ME—EXPELLED FROM SCHOOL?—KICKED OFF THE TEAM? DON'T MAKE ME LAUGH! I'VE BEEN OUT OF TOWN FOR THE LAST TWO WEEKS—AT HOME! MY MOTHER HAS BEEN CRITICALLY ILL—BUT I WROTE YOU, BOOTS, BEFORE I LEFT—

YOU DID? OOH, JIMMY, AN' WE THOUGHT—

AH! I SEE IT NOW! IT'S ALL EASILY EXPLAINED! TWO SCOUTS ON THE "TIGER" TEAM, WHO HAVE SINCE BEEN DISMISSED, DISCOVERED YOU WERE AWAY AND EVIDENTLY INTERFERED WITH YOUR LETTER TO BOOTS—THEN THEY SENT YOUR PERFECT DOUBLE HERE, WITH THE INTENTION OF BREAKING THE MORALE OF OUR TEAM

So!

I KNOW THE RUFFIANS HAD A HUGE SUM OF MONEY BET ON THE GAME TOMORROW, BUT DASH IT ALL—HOW DID THEY KNOW YOU WOULDN'T SHOW UP BEFORE THEN?

THEY DIDN'T—I THINK I CAN EXPLAIN THAT—

THEY WERE EVIDENTLY THE SAME TWO FELLOWS WHO TRIED TO KIDNAP ME WHEN I GOT OFF THE TRAIN LAST NIGHT—

GRADUATES INTO LITERATURE

While Rear Admiral T. P. MacGruder is in Washington "awaiting orders" his articles are appearing in the Saturday Evening Post. He is not being punished so badly in a way, because he can consider himself a literary man and realize he can be reaching several millions of the American people by his pen. Of course his articles will not have the smashing impact that they would if it were not known that they were being censored and O.K'd by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, but they will be loaded with real information and possibly all the more valuable for sensationalism being deleted from them.

HAVE YOUR WIFE MADE OVER

The young woman, who as a victim of a beauty parlor, was made bald, is having a fine new crop of hair sewed into her scalp, fastened with gold rings. It will last, says the agriculturalist that is doing the planting, for two thousand years. That is long enough to last, but what will she do if the hair is bobbed and the styles change in four or five hundred years? Probably by that time, there will be a method of splicing hairs that will again make it better than the original. It won't be very long with the discoveries of science and the development of surgery, before it will be impossible to determine whether the partner you have married is the same person at all that existed under that name two or three years before, but what difference will it make if you are satisfied? And if you are not satisfied, go to the surgeon and have her changed.

THE LIFE OF A DIRIGIBLE

It is only two years since the country was standing in wonderment before a great feat of aircraft mechanism. German pilots had brought to our shores a dirigible which was christened "The Los Angeles." In every city of the country the men who directed that great airship to our shores were feted and admired. It was a great event. It was to become the model for a fleet of similar airships.

And now we are told that it is already obsolete, that it has ceased to be of any service. Five years is given as the longest possible life of any aircraft. The deterioration of the fabric of which it is composed, as well as the mechanism, is so swift that five years is the ultimate limit of its life, and two years is more apt to be the limit.

This is pretty expensive business. And yet the statesmen of the world seem to be able to find no way out from this foolish business. The war to end war has turned out to be only a skirmish. Unless the people make themselves heard, the statesmen of the world, driven by sinister motives, will never come to sanity.

A LOAN THAT IS GOING SLOW

A report comes from London that the last Polish stabilization loan which was floated in Europe and America is not being taken up very readily. A seven and three-quarter per cent investment is not to be sneezed at in these days of low interest. The interest on good seasoned stocks is not running much over four and a quarter.

There are two factors which explain the matter. In the first place, Poland was carved out of Imperial Russia, and there is little love lost between Poland and Soviet Russia. Had it not been for the intervention of the French shortly after the treaty of Versailles, Soviet Russia would have overrun Poland. The Russians were at the gates of Warsaw when the French came to their assistance. In the second place, Germany has never really accepted the cession of the so-called Polish corridor which separates Prussia proper from East Prussia. Germany has publicly expressed her intention not to recover Alsace and Lorraine. But she has publicly announced that she expects some day to be recognized in her claim for readjustment of the Polish border. This fact will always make the Polish nation unstable. These two facts undoubtedly account for the reluctance of investors to invest in Poland.

NATURAL RESOURCES BELONG TO CITIZENS

We are among those who believe in the preservation of natural resources. They certainly should not be dissipated. Wastefulness of the resources today means want tomorrow. Sections of our country have lost irreparably because of the prodigal manner by which some of the resources of the country have been treated. This is particularly true of the forest.

Now the oil men are alarmed over the wastefulness of the oil supply. To be sure it has only been the falling prices which has caused them to show this unusual alarm. As long as their profits were big and prices sustained, they each were anxious to get from the ground the last particle of oil that was possible. As soon, however, as additional places were discovered and the oil began to force down the price, the hue and cry was raised to reduce the output to save it for the coming generations. The oil supply has not reduced the price of gasoline seriously low, but the difficulty of sustaining may be greater than we know. This is one of the things which should be owned and controlled by the people themselves for a monopoly where the government is simply used as the instrument for regulating output, will not militate strongly for the individual citizen.

I've tried to be gentle and diplomatic, but I've never done much in my stocking feet.—Wm. Rockhill Nelson in the Kansas City Star.

There are those with whom Revolution is a major sport. They would organize a Red Left in Utopia.—Glenn Frank.

The Saturation Point

Pomona Progress-Bulletin

Prediction that the "saturation point" for automobiles soon will be reached if the American people keep on buying cars at the present rate, is about as ridiculous as saying that no more books can be sold beyond a certain date because every person has read one.

Huntley Sinclair, assistant professor of marketing at Washington university, pointed out the other day that statistics now indicated there never would be any saturation point for motor vehicles. Demand, of course, will fluctuate, but that rule applies to all commodities.

With replacement increasing steadily from year to year, population gaining, markets in other countries expanding, Dr. Sinclair explained that if by 1930 there are 30,000,000 vehicles in the country, "no new buyers will be needed in the United States." But that doesn't mean saturation point, because there's nothing to prevent a man from buying a car, or a book, twice.

Vote Slacking

Oakland Tribune

In the larger cities of California slightly more than one-third of those who are qualified express their choice and opinions at the polls. A survey recently completed by Professor Charles H. Titus of the University of California at Los Angeles shows that vote slacking is on the increase. In 1904, 550 out of each thousand voted; in 1920, but 430 exercised the privilege. When it comes to the smaller cities there is a better proportion for a little more than one-half are voters.

The survey shows that since 1900 there have been a number of waves in voting interest but the general trend is downward. It reveals the fact that there is a higher voting average in the northern cities, Oakland, San Francisco, Berkeley, Alameda and Santa Cruz, than in the cities of the south.

Out of it all the conclusions are reached that the smaller cities and the towns show a greater interest in public affairs and government than do the large places and that elections throughout the state are decided by a minority of those who could vote if they wished.

Wedding Music

Imperial Valley Press

The bonfire's the thing. Now it is an American Lutheran minister in the city of New York who would like to have a huge bonfire made of all the copies of "Oh, Promise Me." He wants that and other "sentimental ballads" forever banned from church weddings. He has heard it sung once or more times too often and can bear it no longer.

This is bound to arouse protests, just as did the outspoken Catholic clergyman's decision that "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" would be sung at no more funerals conducted by him.

Sentimental ballads and hymns may be out of place and may introduce "a disharmonious note" at church weddings and at funerals. Yet, after all, are not these things matters of personal preference and taste? Undoubtedly there are blissful couples to whom the singing of "Oh, Promise Me" is very nearly as important as the reading of the marriage service in making their wedding correct to the last detail.

There are people who don't care for old shoes, rice and confetti at weddings; there are others who regard no wedding complete without these left-overs from ancient tribal customs.

Until statistics have been compiled to prove that the singing of sentimental ballads at weddings causes more divorces, and the absence of such song accompaniment insures perfect union and living happily forever after, we'd be inclined to let ever couple—or ever bride—decide on the music to suit themselves.

Health Topics

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Editor of Journal of American Medical Association

YOU HAD A DREAM—THIS EXPLAINS IT
Superstitious persons are likely to have dream books for consultation in times of emergency. These things are, of course, absolutely hokum and merit not the slightest consideration.

Various students of the human mind have, particularly in recent years, given serious study to dreams. It is significant that Dr. P. G. Stiles of the Harvard Medical school in a recent review of the subject should place most emphasis on the attention that has been given to dreams by Havelock Ellis and by Freud. He considers the Havelock Ellis book, "The World of Dreams," much more reasonable than Freud's more extensive work on the interpretation of dreams.

For many years Dr. Stiles kept a record of his own dreams and, as a result of this and his study of the literature, he has reached certain definite conclusions. Apparently everyone is true in his dreams to his conscious type of mind.

Visual Impressions
The difference is that in the dream he views the sequence of events like a spectator at a motion picture, and feels no responsibility for the action.

Most dreams are visual impressions of pictures related to incidents that have occurred during the day. There are involved also many senses of motion, including floating, flying or falling.

Oscillations in dreams are infrequent. The sense of hearing is rather infrequent, although music enters into the dreams of many persons.

Not infrequently the sounds heard in dreams may be co-ordinated with sounds occurring in the vicinity of the sleeper which are heard in the same rhythm when the sleeper awakes. For instance, a series of rasping sounds heard in a dream were co-ordinated with the sounds of a locomotive leaving a neighboring railroad station.

A sleeper dreamed that an electric car was about to run over him, the motorman insistently ringing the gong. When the sleeper awakened, he found a boy in the same room coughing, heard with the same rhythm as that of the gong.

It is significant of many dreams that pictures of one type or another shade rapidly or merge into subsequent picture. Sometimes the changes take place by similarity or by analogy.

Reflex State of Body
Havelock Ellis, as pointed out by Dr. Stiles, has paid particular attention to dreams which are reflections of the state of the body of the dreamer. In one case a sleeping person dreamed of an inflated cat bouncing on the floor. When he awakened, he found his own abdomen uncomfortably tense. It is part of the dream psychology to exaggerate the actual conditions.

Numerous cases are cited in which conditions of digestion produced definite dreams of a related character. In the same way, the function of breathing and its rhythm may be reflected in dreams.

In one instance a person dreamed of a small fish, greenish yellow in color, lying dead on a gravel driveway. Its gill slits were placed in such position that it could not breathe. When the sleeper awakened he found that his own nose was stopped up and that he also could not breathe.

Almost everyone dreams occasionally of mingling with a crowd while scantily dressed. Sometimes such dreams are associated with lack of sufficient bed covering. The Freudian interpreters are likely to assign other significances.

Dr. Stiles does not believe with the Freudians that sex is the motivating factor in all or even in the majority of dreams.

THE LESSER SPLENDORS

Take it for what it's worth. I need
A line or two of truth today.
What's bigger than an honest deed
Which drives one touch of care away?
What's greater than a kindly word
By which a faltering heart is stirred?

Is all success in silver told?
Is fame the only proof of worth?
And is the stout heart and the bold
All that is recognized on earth?
When one in care or sorrow stands,
Does he not sigh for gentle hands?

Is it not something to have stood
Undaunted at a dismal post,
Doing the very best you could
To serve the ones you love the most?
Are not the humbler heroes here
As brave as those the people cheer?

Not all the courage shines afar,
Not all the great souls come to fame;
As brave the lesser toilers are
As those who win the world's acclaim.
True greatness in an hour of need
May be a very simple deed.

The Comet Schaumasse

On our desk is a penny postal card, an important announcement from Harvard. It is Announcement Card No. 33, from the Harvard College Observatory. Let us see what it says.

"Comet Schaumasse—The following ephemeris of Comet Schaumasse, communicated by Professor Leuschner, was computed by Berman and Shipple from Merton's elements (M. N. 87, 567, 1927) with perihelion October 1, 1926, based on Van Biesbroeck's position announced on Harvard Card No. 32."

Below this there are three columns headed U. T., R. A. and Dec., and these are filled with various mystifying numerals. The work is signed by Harlow Shapley.

We hadn't known Mr. Shapley was coaching the football team and don't think he should give away the Harvard signals that way. That is a clear breach of professional etiquette.

But no, wait! Maybe this isn't the football code after all! There are minutes and degrees on this card. Maybe it's a way of checking up on your Chinese laundry ticket. After all, Mr. Shapley may not be spoofing us. Let us apply it and see if it agrees with Hang Li's reckoning.

We thought at first it was a guide for channel swimmers, but nobody's swimming the channel any more. Maybe it's just one of those things!

Authorities in New York plan to take scantily clad actresses to court just as they are, without stopping for a change of garments. Wait until the press agents find that out!

A St. Louis boy, whose Latin grammar was blown away in the tornado, has just received it back. Some very kind person found it and mailed it to him.

The political correspondents have found a brand new term to use in their stories. It is "prevailing sentiment."

CURRENT COMMENT

By CHESTER H. ROWELL

THIS is written in Chicago, "Big Bill's" town, where the chief issue is whether Bill is funny or tragic. William R. Hearst comes out in a signed editorial that he is neither, but is a hero and "thoughtful" defender of American patriotism and traditions. It is those who laugh at Chicago's Mayor who are "clowns," and "laughing jackasses;" to use Wm. Hearst's dignified language. Since these include nearly all the intelligent and sober-minded people in America, there must be something wanting in somebody's sense of humor.

THIS Chicago is a strange city—doubtless the most "American" place on the continent in spite of the fact that most of its inhabitants are foreign-born or their first-generation descendants. It has all the virtues and all the faults of this roaring age. It is a city of tremendous force, which first started the vogue of bigness. The first skyscrapers in the world were erected here, and Chicago already towered when New York was still a squat, Europeanized city. Chicago kills more cattle and is the terminal of more railroads than any other city in the world. Most of its industries are prosaic, but all of them are huge. It is the center of the greatest, the richest and the least interesting body of land in the world. Its old inhabitants were the pioneers of the flat land and its newer ones are the imputation of its industries. It does everything vastly, noisily, ungently, and very effectively. Perhaps Big Bill is, after all, its appropriate symbol.

THE Middle West looks good. Its ugly farm houses, mostly built in the last century, are big and comfortable, and reflect prosperity. The corn crop, on which this blackland region lives, after a discouraging summer, turned out fine by a phenomenal autumn, and the fields, now touched with the first freeze, never looked better. The weather and the soil are right for harvesting, and if corn is wealth, the Middle West should prosper. The cattle are sleek and the hogs fat and saucy. If prices are only right—and they are looking better—everything else is propitious.

UNFORTUNATELY, in our "money economy," price tells the whole story. "How's crops?" the farmers traditional greeting, no longer means anything. The real question is "How's prices?" The farmer once at most of his crops and sold or traded the rest for needed goods at relatively stabilized prices. Farming was then a life, rather than a business. Buying and selling were only its incidental features. Then good crops meant comfort and poor crops meant hardship. "Hard times; hard times—come again no more" if the old song meant times of frost and flood and drought and consequent poor crops. Now they mean economic conditions, in the European and American markets, which hold down the price of what the farmer has to sell and keep up the price of what he has to buy. It is all a business question, of markets and money, and only secondary an agricultural question of crops. By modern methods, the crop is practically never an outright failure. But the price received for it frequently "does not pay the cost of production." In the old days there was no such "cost" measured in money. Crops cost land and work, and they were useful to eat, and to feed animals which also produced food and clothing.

FARMING has become a business, but, curiously, farmers have adopted the reverse of the normal business attitude toward politics. "Less government in business; more business in government," is the slogan of commerce and industry. But the farmer wants precisely more government in his business. He holds the government responsible for the economic "leg" between the recovery of industry and the recovery of agriculture, and he demands that government take up that slack. So, without necessarily understanding how it would do it, he is for the McNary-Haugen price-stabilizing bill. And his arguments in favor of it consist of the threat to vote against any one who opposes it. That is the reason. Davies and Lowden—neither of whom is a dirt farmer, or personally much affected by the gains or losses of his lands—have climbed aboard the band wagon.

WITH the emotional desire of the farmers for relief, everybody sympathizes. The difference is in intellectual judgment on what would best actually produce that relief. And intellectual differences do not count much in politics until they are translated into emotional conflict. All the economic experts are agreed that the McNary-Haugen artificial attempt to lift the farmer over the fence by his bootstraps would not accomplish this purpose, and that the real remedy is to help the farmer help himself, by encouraging and protecting cooperative organization. The majority of Congressmen are of the same personal opinion. But they do not vote their own, or anybody's opinions. They respond to their constituents' feelings. So they pass the bill in which they do not believe, and leave it for President Coolidge to veto it. Just now the most-discussed question is—what will be its political results?

Plant Stimulant

Mr. William Boot, an amateur gardener of West Bridgford, has discovered a way of using wireless energy to stimulate his plants. He discovered, says the London Express, that his cucumbers and tomatoes were drawing energy from his aerial and began experiments which have led to the claim that he has increased fertilization in his garden by between 20 to 30 per cent. One cucumber plant, sixteen foot long, yielded thirty-five cucumbers, some of which were two foot in length. The fertilizing apparatus used by Mr. Boot consists of a spiral wire, with insulators attached, which can be stretched to a required length. Experiments have so far been confined to greenhouses, but it is believed that the principle on which they are conducted will eventually be applied to field crops.

Clocks

By SHIRLEY RODMAN-WILLIAMS

ON the farm, the grandfather's clock ticks slowly, with wide swinging pendulum, while grandmother rocks by the window, knitting, or not knitting, for there's no hurry about finishing the mittens. The gray cat stretches lazily under the stove and the tea kettle sings its soft song. Outside, far down on the road, the greyhound busses tear cityward, as in a dream. Somewhere, near the old clock, I too sit quietly, unharried, for I seem far removed in thought and impulse from the stimulus of the clock-ticking clocks of the city.

THE grandfather's clock out in the hall
Is tall and old and slow;
Whenever it's time to go to bed
I pass him as I go.
"Tick-tock, tick-tock,"
There's plenty of time," says grandfather's clock.
BUT the little new clock that's in my room
Ticks along at a fearful pace;
The minute the birds and sun get up
He and I run a jolly race.
"Tick-tick, tick-tick, tick-tick, tick-tick,
Better get dressed and outdoors quick!"
